KOMAGATA HINDUS START QUARRELING

Either Denouncing Immigration Men or Fighting Among Themselves

TEDIOUS LIFE ON SHIP
GETS ON THEIR NERVES

Vancouver Faction Foresees
Riots If Countrymen Should Reach the Shore

HAVE SUFFICIENT FOOD TO LAST THEM FOR YEAR

Vancouver, June 4.—The Hindu excursionists have worked themselves up to a high state of frenzy and the few moments they spare from denouncing the immigration officials, they spend in fighting among themselves. The possible decision of the owners of the Komagata Maru to immediately set sail for Yokohama whether the passengers go ashore or remain aboard, is hanging over them. Pinned up amid the stench of an overcrowded ship, with shore only a few jumps away, their position is most exasperating to the intending immigrants. The Hindus of Vancouver have thrown up their hands. The shore committee figures that the party on the ship is not going to be admitted and they might as well return now as two months from to-day. More than that, the Hindu leaders in Vancouver are wise enough to see the storm of trouble that will arise from the labor party in Vancouver, if by any circumstance the Hindus should get ashore.

A well known Vancouver Hindu put the matter plainly this morning. He said: "We realize now that if we win there will be riots in Vancouver. We had hoped to get the Komagata Maru people in quietly, but the situation has become so strained now that it is very bad indeed. The labor party in Vancouver realizes that the immigration officials are fighting the Hindus in every possible way. If, after all the fighting up to to-day, the Hindus should by some subterfuge enter Canada, there would be great trouble. We are not fools. Is it not better for them to go back to Japan than for every Hindu to be driven out of Vancouver? That is why we have instructed our lawyer to withdraw."

In the meantime it is announced that J. E. Bird has been engaged as counsel by individual Hindus aboard the ship. He last night transmitted telegrams to the King and the Duke of Connaught complaining that the Hindus aboard the ship were starving and ready to die of thirst. He also intimated that they might go on a hunger strike.

Refuting this, C. Gardiner-Johnson, agent for the ship's owners, says that the Hindu charterers agreed to keep their passengers provisioned and water daily been taken aboard the ship since her arrival here. Gurdit Singh still insists that he will not pay the balance of the charter money, $15,000, until he is allowed to do it ashore. In Mr. Johnson's office, in the meantime his passengers are in mutiny. The fear that they may be forced to return and thus lose their passage money makes them rave at the government and their leader as well.

Mr. Johnson declared this morning that the story of starvation aboard was nonsense. "As a matter of fact," he added, "the Hindus provisioned the ship with their own particular eatables to last them for two years. They did this before leaving Yokohama. Some of the goods were damaged by salt water on the way over, but most of them are still good. They have enough aboard to last them all the rest of the year. Two hundred tons of fresh water in a scow were sent out yesterday. The talk of a hunger strike is just a grandstand play. The Hindus are trying to make the government feed them."

London, June 4.—John Pollen, M. D., honorary secretary of the East India association expresses the opinion that East Indians now seeking admission into Canada will be obliged to accept the view of exclusion prevalent in the Dominion. He adds that the native Indian states had the same right of excluding persons, whether British subjects or not, but so far had not extensively exercised this power. Dr. Pollen could suggest no remedy for the present position, which he admitted might eventually breed worse trouble and even imperial disaster.

STRIKE COMMISSION PROPOSED.
Washington, June 4.—A federal commission to settle the Colorado strike troubles was proposed to President Wilson to-day by Senator Owen, who announced his intention of introducing a bill for such a body.

OFFICIAL SAYS COMPANY CANNOT RAISE EMPRESS FROM BOTTOM OF RIVER

Mysterious Tug Takes Divers to Scene
Where Wealth and Dead Are Submerged
—Nine Members of Crew Buried To-day at Quebec With Double Service

Quebec, June 4.—That the Canadian Pacific company will not be able to raise the sunken steamer Empress of Ireland now at the bottom of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, where she sank last Friday morning on colliding with the Norwegian steamer Storstad, is practically certain from a statement made by an important executive official of the C. P. R. here to-day. Having applied his knowledge of the position of the ship to the prospect of raising her, the official announces that the Canadian Pacific company has neither the equipment nor the means of raising the vessel.

Captain Walsh, of the company, when asked his opinion regarding raising the ship said: "We have a great and solemn duty just before us. We must bury the dead that have been recovered. That is our first work. When that is finished we will think of these other problems."

The sunken Empress has aboard over one million dollars in value of silver bars and there is no doubt some operation will be taken to get this from the hulk. Also there are thought to be some hundreds of bodies trapped in the hulk, those who never had time to get from their cabins after the ship struck and those who were killed by the impact.

Yesterday afternoon some persons visited the cruiser Essex and endeavored to obtain the services of divers. They were unsuccessful. A tug was later reported to have gone down the river with a barge and divers and apparatus, bound for the scene of the wreck. They would reach there to-day.

Local experts maintain that operations by these people, should they attempt anything and should the company allow them to continue their work, cannot be started before Friday. No further word of the tug and barge have been received.

Mr. Justice Bouthier, of the Quebec admiralty court, in discussing the work which is before the commission which will investigate the wreck of the Empress of Ireland, stated that it would be practically impossible for the commission to be ready by Tuesday next, which is the date set for the first hearing.

The funeral procession moving to the music of military bands, passed between double rows of sorrowing spectators. Everywhere flags were half-mast. The Duke of Connaught was represented by Captain Bullon, his aide-de-camp.

Sir Francois Langellier, lieutenant-governor; Sir Lomer Gouin, the premier, and members of the cabinet attended in person. Mayor Drouin and the council followed the cortege in the ranks, of which were several Canadian Pacific railway officials.

CHURCH UNION ONCE MORE IN ASSEMBLY

Question Brought Forward at Woodstock in Address of
Rev. F. H. Brewin

ASKS FOR DECISIVE ACTION DURING YEAR

Irreconcilable Element Seems
Clearly Defined and is Not Large One

FINANCIAL STATEMENT SHOWS LARGE INCREASE

Woodstock, Ont., June 4.—Rev. F. H. Brewin, rector of the new St. Paul Anglican church here, made an extraordinary address before the general assembly of the Presbyterian church here to-day. Mr. Brewin came to the assembly to convey the cordial greetings of the Ministerial association, of which he is at the present time the president. The position of church union is acute in the assembly, and Mr. Brewin boldly plunged into a statement on this question, indicating with the utmost clearness his complete sympathy with the large element in the Presbyterian church which is in favor of union. He referred to the evils and losses which were entailed by a divided church, and stated that it must be the most earnest prayer of the truest Christians that union as now proposed might be carried to a successful conclusion.

Mr. Brewin, who is entertaining the present moderator of the assembly at his home, and who has been in touch with leaders of the church here, also said that he understood that the present assembly was to make history and that he was glad for this reason that the meeting was being held in Woodstock.

The idea suggested by him in this regard was that in the matter of union a decisive step was to be taken this year. The general supposition here is that this step will be taken in 1915. Leaders in the movement have apparently decided that the church is going to make it any less by waiting longer. The irreconcilable element seems to be quite clearly defined and is not large.

Rev. J. M. Warner, of the First Baptist church, and Rev. C. S. Pedley, of the Congregational church, appeared with Mr. Brewin, conveying to the assembly the greetings of the churches of this city.

Mayor W. D. Hobson was also present with a welcome from the city of Woodstock.

Continued progress both on the financial side and in the matter of the membership marks the reports of the Presbyterian church in Canada presented to the general assembly. The financial statement shows that in 1913, $5,827,699 was the amount raised for all the purposes of the church. This was an increase of $219,938 over the preceding year. For the plans of the church, the amount was $1,205,396, being $70,883 better than for 1913, while for congregational purposes $4,436,703 were contributed. An increase of $149,053.

The average contribution per family for all purposes of the church is reported as being $33.70, while communion is $18.32. The Presbytery of Saskatchewan heads the list, with a contribution of $52.74 per family and $32.93 for communion.

The budget for 1914 shows a total of $1,600,000 as compared with $1,200,000. Dealing with the budget the board of annual statement shows an advance of $50,924 in receipts for the budget from congregations, exclusive of donations and other special amounts, yet the average contribution for the budget for 1913 was $2.76 per communicant only, or a little more than five cents per week. More than half the membership of the church gave nothing.

Singer With Friends Has One Side of Court; William Rapp Takes The Other.

Chicago, June 4.—Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heinck, wearing a handsome black summer gown, waving a fan, entered Judge Sullivan's court to-day to state her case for divorce against William Rapp, Jr.

In one corner of the room stood the defendant surrounded by friends, and in another the singer with her friends. There was a large crowd of on-lookers, mostly eager to see what a prima donna looked like off the stage. It required most of the forenoon to fill the box. The singer accuses her husband of being unfaithful to his marriage vows.

GUADALAJARA SURROUNDED TANTIMA AND TANTOYUCA ISOLATED FROM CAPITAL

Constitutional Armies in Mexico Complete
Manoeuvres That Strengthen Carranza's
Campaign—Huerta's Troops in West Isolated—Colima in Hands of Alamillo

Durango, Mex., via El Paso, Tex., June 4.—The towns of Tantima and Tantoyuca, in the state of Vera Cruz, have been captured by the constitutionalists under General Candido Aguilar, newly-governor of that state, according to messages received to-day by General Carranza.

General Aguilar has occupied a large portion of the country, and has established civil and military authorities in office and offered full guarantees to commerce and industry. All railroad and telegraph lines as far south as the northern part of Hidalgo have been opened to traffic, and General Aguilar was given orders to push the campaign against the federalists to the south with the troops of General Blanco and General Natorla closing in on Guadalajara and Zacatecas, respectively.

In answer to representations made by the United States state department General Carranza to-day ordered that collectors in the states held by constitutionalists make no effort to collect again the back taxes paid by foreign companies to the Huerta government.

On Board U. S. S. California, Mazatlan, Mex., June 3.—Via Wireless to San Diego, Cal., June 4.—Communication between the west coast of Mexico and Mexico City has been completely severed, according to information reaching the American fleet to-day. A party of constitutionalists, en route from San Blas to Las Tres Marias Islands, 50 miles west of Tepic, have captured the federal prison and the radio station, which will isolate the Huerta troops operating in the west from any direct touch with their chief.

Colima, capital of the state of that name, and one of the most important cities in Southwestern Mexico, has fallen into the hands of the constitutionalists, led by General Alamillo, former governor of Colima, according to official information furnished Rear-Admiral Howard to-day.

Guadalajara, the objective point of the recent operations of the constitutionalists of the northwest, under command of General Obregon, has been surrounded. Three columns of Obregon's army, according to official information reaching Rear-Admiral Howard, have succeeded in shutting off the city from the national capital on the east and Manzanillo and the Pacific coast on the west.

The schooner Leonor, with a cargo of supplies for the beleaguered federal forces of Mazatlan, was prevented from discharging her freight to-day by the dangerous fire of General Obregon's batteries. The captain of the vessel announced that he would attempt tonight to run the constitutionalist force.

It is understood here that General Obregon's advance with combined Guadalajara and Vera Cruz troops, headed southward in a combined attack on Mexico City.

Washington, June 4.—Prospects of an attempted blockade of Tampico by Huerta gunboats took the position of chief interest in Mexican affairs to-day and administration officials informed of the latest development only in news dispatches, declined to indicate their policy, although they informed Rear-Admiral Badger and Rear-Admiral Mayo of the situation.

It was considered significant, however, that at the state department immediately after Tampico fell into the hands of the constitutionalists it was announced that all Mexican gulf ports were considered "open," and that was interpreted as a clear intimation that no blockade would be recognized.

The steamer Antilla, bearing arms for Carranza, and which has aroused the present situation, has the Cuban flag. What the United States will do should Huerta gunboats attempt to interfere with her, officials declined to say or indicate.

Whether the United States ships would permit the Antilla to land her cargo now that the embargo on arms is again in force, was another complicated feature, to which officials here did not attempt to offer any explanation.

BALL TO BE LIBERATED PROSECUTION AT FAULT

Burns Detectives Appear on Side of the Innocent; Money to Defend Hopkins.

Mount Vernon, Wash., June 4.—George Ball, Great Northern bandit suspect, will be released from custody within a few days, and the charge against him dismissed, according to the expectations of those claiming to be familiar with the case. Burns detectives were the last to report on Ball's defence, and it is on the strength of their recommendations that Attorney-General W. V. Tanner is expected to order the dismissal of the charge.

In connection with this important Skagit county case, interesting information disclosed here is that Charles Hopkins' parents have sent $1,000 from England for the defence of their son, the so-called "tattooed bandit."

Winnipeg, June 4.—George J. Bury, vice-president of the C. P. R., left this morning for Vancouver on his first regular inspection trip of company lines this year. He will pay particular attention to Okanagan and Weyburn-Lethbridge lines, and will inspect Kettle Valley railway progress with a view to pushing the line forward this summer or in the early autumn. Mr. Bury will visit Penticton to confer with President Warren.

Mr. Bury will accompany him as far as Banff, where she remains for some time.

NATIONAL AGREEMENT ON OIL CONCESSIONS

Operators at Fault Through Mexican Disturbance Will Have Interests Protected

Washington, June 4.—The agreement between the United States, Great Britain and The Netherlands, as a means of protecting their citizens and the Mexican oil fields from spoliation was officially announced to-day in the following statement: "The withdrawal of the foreigners from the Tampico oil fields after the occupation of Vera Cruz by American forces and the danger of returning while military operations were in progress, have made it impossible for the operators of the oil wells in every case to meet their contractual obligations or to comply with the requirements of the authorities. As a possible result, some of the contracts may be cancelled or some of the properties may be confiscated and the interests resealed."

"The matter has been brought to the attention of the governments of the United States, Great Britain and The Netherlands. Appreciating the great injustice to the operators, who for their safety were compelled to leave the district, and so were unable to comply with their contracts and legal provisions, the three governments have formally agreed that they will not support diplomatically any claims to interests in the oil regions acquired directly or indirectly by their respective nations since April 20, 1914, which in any way affected by cancellation or confiscation resulting from the inability of the bona fide owners to meet their contractual or legal obligations because of military operations or the disturbed political state in and about Tampico and Tuxtepec."

"This agreement in no way, however, affects any case in which the owner could have performed his obligations, or any case of legitimate transfer."

MILLIONAIRE FAVORS LLOYD GEORGE TAXES

Man With Capital of $5,000,- 000 Will Pay Third of Income in Tax

SIR WILLIAM LEVER IS PLEASED WITH PROSPECT

Site Tax of Chancellor of Exchequer Based on British Columbia Law

BRITISH WEALTH WILL DOUBLE IN 30 YEARS

London, June 3.—Under the new scheme of taxation introduced by David Lloyd George, chancellor of the exchequer, in his budget for 1914-15, a man having an income from a capital of five million dollars will have to pay one-third of his income in taxes.

In the first place he has to pay one-third of his income in taxes. In the first place he has to pay twenty-eight cents on every five dollars income tax; then he has to pay a similar amount in super-tax, and when he dies one dollar on every five of what is left has to be paid for death and estate duties. The total is figured at just under one-third of the income.

This calculation has been made by Sir William Lever, one of the millionaires who will have to pay, but who does not object.

"I like it," he said. "In my view the ideal system of taxation, both local and imperial, is through the income tax, the super-tax, death duties, land tax, site value tax, and taxation upon luxuries, such as alcohol, tobacco, etc. Everything else free."

While Mr. Lloyd George has followed his predecessors in his system of taxation, except that he has increased the rate of income and super-tax and death duties, so that the wealthy have to pay the lion's share, he has gone to the other extreme for some of his ideas. His taxation of site values is based on the law now in vogue in British Columbia, while he has gone to the American income tax law for the idea of making money accruing to British subjects from investments abroad pay its share of taxation.

In recent years British capitalists have made immense investments in foreign countries. When the income from these investments was brought home to be spent, the government, under the old law, levied income tax on it; that is, when the government could discover it. But when the income was re-invested abroad, the old law did not touch it. Now Lloyd George says all income of British subjects resident in the United Kingdom must contribute to the imperial revenue. These foreign investments are estimated at over a billion and a half dollars, and from this the chancellor hopes to secure $1,250,000 this year, and double that amount next year. The total increase of revenue from income tax and death duties this year will amount to something like $44,000,000.

In spite of these increases, Sir George Paish, editor of The Statist, says the burden of taxation is much smaller than it has been in modern history. In 1880, when the expenditure came to $415,000,000, it was raised out of a national income of five billion dollars. Now the national income reaches the enormous total of $12,000,000,000, so it can easily stand the increased expenditure. Sir George argues that Britain can bear still greater increases in her budget.

"There are good grounds," he says, "for believing that the income and wealth of this country will double again in another thirty years. When it reaches twenty-five billion dollars, and I have no doubt that it will within a generation, a budget of two and a half billion dollars will be borne more easily than the burden of a billion dollars in 1914."

BILL TAKES POWERS BUT LEAVES RESPONSIBILITY

Washington, June 4.—"In this bill the interstate commerce commission practically is given the powers of general managers of the boards of directors of all the railroads of the country," said George F. Brownell, vice-president of the Erie, testifying to-day before the senate interstate commerce committee on proposed anti-trust legislation which affects railroads.

"Under this bill," continued Mr. Brownell, "the commission would have the powers without the responsibilities, leaving the owners with the responsibilities and without the powers. It would lead to an interlocking directorate more vast than has been suggested as existing to-day."

RE-ELECTED SPEAKER.
Paris, June 4.—Paul Deschanel, one of the "immortals," was to-day re-elected speaker of the chamber of deputies by forty-one votes against twenty-four scattered among other candidates.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER KILLED AT MONTREAL

Street Car Strikes Automobile;
Two Male Passengers
Seriously Hurt

Montreal, June 4.—A street car smashed into an automobile owned by Mr. Emile Robillard, a dealer in electrical supplies, at the intersection of Water avenue and St. Antoine street last night with fatal results. Mrs. Robillard, 40 years of age, and a daughter, Miss E. Robillard, were killed. Mr. Robillard and son Eugene were seriously hurt, and are now in the western hospital. They are suffering from broken ribs, general contusions, cuts and probably internal injuries. The motorman of the car, Roscoe Chennevert, 622 St. Antoine street, escaped with his left arm crushed.

The street car had descended a somewhat stiff grade on Water avenue, and was just swinging into St. Antoine street when it left the track. The automobile with its four occupants was proceeding along St. Antoine street and the car plunged into it at terrific speed. The automobile was jammed against the curb, and the Robillard family were thrown out. The father and son were thrown clear of the car or automobile. Mrs. Robillard was caught beneath the automobile. It is thought her skull was crushed, as there were few marks on her except a wound in the back of the head. Miss Robillard became pinned under the street car, and was badly crushed. It was with some difficulty that her body was extricated.

REV. DR. HERRIDGE

Chosen moderator at Woodstock convention last night.

PRESBYTERIANS MEET MODERATOR SELECTED

Dr. Herridge Chosen; Exceptionally Long List of Business Before Assembly This Year.

Woodstock, Ont., June 4.—Rev. Dr. W. T. Herridge, of Ottawa, is the new moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in Canada, having been elected to that position last night at the opening session of the assembly in Knox church here. Five names were submitted, but one of the nominees, Rev. John Neil, of Westminster church, Toronto, withdrew, and Rev. A. B. Baird, of Winnipeg, was declared ineligible, as his name was not on the list of commissioners appointed to the assembly.

The names upon which a vote was taken were those of Dr. Herridge, Rev. Principal Scrimgeour, of Montreal college, and Rev. Dr. D. D. McLeod, of Barrie. In accordance with the usual custom, a standing vote was first taken as between Principal Scrimgeour and Dr. McLeod, the latter being declared the choice. Then a similar vote was taken to decide between Dr. McLeod and Dr. Herridge, the latter being elected by an overwhelming majority.

Woodstock threw open her doors to the scores of divines from coast to coast who are arriving for the annual session of the Presbyterian parliament. The permanent clerks of the assembly state that their volume of business will be exceptionally heavy. A long list of important matters has been prepared and will require consideration. The committee of business has begun to sort these out and arrange them for presentation to the assembly.

HINDUS CLAIM THEY WERE WITHOUT FOOD

Messages of Complaint Sent to King George and Duke of Connaught.

Vancouver, B. C., June 4.—The East Indians aboard the steamer Komagata Maru, now anchored in Burrard inlet, yesterday sent a dispatch to King George, and H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught, governor-general of Canada, at Ottawa, informing His Majesty and the governor-general that the East Indians aboard the Komagata Maru have been starving and without water for two days.

J. Edward Bird, the legal representative of the East Indians, made himself responsible for this statement, and added that copies of the telegram had been forwarded by him to Malcolm Reid, head of the immigration department here, through whom all communications from the ship had to come.

Mr. Gardner-Johnson, to whose firm the Komagata Maru is consigned, and Mr. Reid, both asserted that the Komagata Maru was well supplied with provisions and water.

REBEKAH ASSEMBLY AT REGINA NUMBERS 51

Regina, Sask., June 4.—The Rebekah assembly was instituted yesterday afternoon by Mrs. D. McKinnon, past president of the Rebekah assembly of Manitoba, assisted by Mrs. F. L. Kenny, grand warden, with Mrs. A. Stewart as grand marshal, and Mrs. L. Simpson as grand secretary. The new assembly starts with a membership of fifty-one representatives.

The I. O. O. F. grand lodge session in the afternoon was largely made up with the report of the judiciary committee. Fraternal greetings were represented by Past Grand Master Robb of Quebec; P. M. G. Donagh, and Grand Master Coupland, of Ontario; Grand Master Miller and Grand Treasurer Andrews, of Manitoba, and G. W. Millar, grand warden of Alberta.

CROP CONDITIONS ARE GOOD ON THE PRAIRIES

Regina, Sask., June 4.—While in a number of districts grain in Saskatchewan is less forward than it was in the first week of June last year, conditions are very similar and prospects for the season are bright, according to reports made by the five field representatives of the department of agriculture now in the city. The report covers the settled area of Saskatchewan. Only in the west has the shortage of rain delayed the progress of the crops and the rainfall of the present week will, it is anticipated, greatly improve the prospects in the west.

DRUNKENNESS SUBJECT FOR ANGLICAN SYNOD

Hon. C. R. Coldwell Thinks It
Delicate Matter for Clergymen

Winnipeg, June 4.—The afternoon session yesterday of the Anglican synod of Rupertland was marked by a warm discussion on a motion introduced by Rev. G. H. Broughall, asking for the investigation of drunkenness in the province of Manitoba, and urging the synod to do something to get amendments to the laws regarding inebriety.

Hon. C. R. Coldwell interrupted the speaker and asked: "Why single out drunkenness? Are there no other evils to investigate? This looks like a very sinister thing to me. You are touching on a very delicate question. Because of the position I occupy I should not say much, but this is a question upon which I should advise the synod to go gently."

At this point the archbishop called the synod to order, and the debate stood adjourned until to-day.

Rev. Dr. Broughall, in the course of his speech, condemned the present system of punishing drunkenness. The fine of $3 and costs was useless. The speaker also declared that as much drunkenness was due to disease and insanity, provision should be made for compulsory treatment in hospital or asylum. He also declared that an improvement should be made in regard to punishing men for selling drink to drunken men. This law was not enforced, declared Mr. Broughall.

On the motion of Rev. Mr. Douglas, Brandon, it was decided that the parochial year in future should correspond with the civil year, instead of finishing in March as at present. It was also decided to request the synod of the Anglican church, which meets in Vancouver in September, to adopt a system that will be applicable to all the Dominion in relation to pensions and funds for the widows and children of clergymen.

Rev. J. J. Roy made the declaration that the Anglican church as a whole is not sympathetic to temperance reform.

"There's a tendency in our church to stand by the liquor interests," Mr. Roy said, "in the country the people are inclined to favor the 'banish the bar' proposal, but at the synod any temperance reform proposal was defeated every time it was introduced. Other speakers followed along the same lines.

A motion was introduced asking for an uniform book for the recording of births, marriages and deaths through the Dominion, and this was passed through to the general synod, which meets in Vancouver in September.

CLEVELAND WOMEN TAKE HAND IN COLORADO STRIKE

Will March on Church to Resent
Statement of Rockefeller's
Pastor.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 4.—Mrs. Albert H. Gilbert, president of the Home Protective Equal Suffrage club, issued a call to-day to the wives of Cleveland union men to march on the Euclid avenue Baptist church, known as the Rockefeller church, as a protest against a sermon preached last Sunday by the pastor, in which he upheld John D. Rockefeller in refusing to act in the Colorado mine trouble. The executive committee of the club is to decide on which Sunday the women shall march. According to Mrs. Gilbert, these questions will be asked of the Rev. W. W. Bustard, the pastor, at the service: "What is the relation of Christ to the union?" and "Are the Colorado mines conducted as Christ would have them conducted?"

ROYAL SALUTE CAUSED DAMAGE TO PROPERTY

Regina, Sask., June 4.—The shock of the royal salute fired here on the king's birthday is alleged to have injured the houses surrounding the lot upon which it was discharged. The foundations of houses were shaken and the windows broken. The losers threaten to sue the militia department at Ottawa for damages, and to have these salutes fired outside the city limits in the future.

TO PUT ON FLESH AND INCREASE WEIGHT

A Physician's Advice.

Most thin people eat from four to six pounds of good, solid, fat-making food every day and still do not increase in weight one ounce, while on the other hand many of the plump, chunky folks eat very lightly and keep gaining all the time. It's all a matter of what they eat. Nature's way at all.

Thin folks stay thin because their powers of assimilation are defective. They absorb just enough of the food they eat to maintain life and a semblance of health and strength. Stomachs won't help them. A dozen meals a day won't make them gain a single "stay there" pound. All the fat-producing elements of their food just stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste. What such people need is something that will prepare these fatty food elements so that their blood can absorb them and deposit them all about the body—something, too, that will multiply their red blood corpuscles and increase their blood's carrying power.

For such a condition I always recommend eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is not, as some believe, a patented drug, but is a scientific combination of six of the most effective and powerful flesh building elements known to chemistry. It is absolutely harmless, and wonderfully effective, and a single tablet eaten with each meal often has the effect of increasing the weight of a thin man or woman from three to five pounds a week. Sargol is sold by D. B. Campbell, prescription store, Victoria, B. C., and other good druggists everywhere on a positive guarantee of weight increase or money back.

IMMORAL LEGISLATION IS LEMIEUX'S CHARGE

Farmers' Bank Bill Gets Third Reading; Mr. Fielding Defended in Commons

Ottawa, June 4.—At 1 o'clock this morning the house had settled down to what promised to be a practically all-night sitting. The bone of contention was the Farmers' Bank bill, the debate being on the second reading and A. K. Maclean's motion for a six months' halt.

The division was called at 3.15 this morning, when the six months' halt was defeated by 55 to 17. Duncan Ross, E. W. Nesbitt, and Angus McMillan, Liberals, voted with the government. P. S. Lamarche, Conservative, was paired with Hon. Sam Barker against the bill. W. F. Nickle was also paired with R. B. Bennett against the bill. The bill was then given its second reading.

The chief speech in support of the measure for the government side was made by Hon. T. W. Crothers, while Hon. Mr. Lemieux put up the chief argument for the Liberals. Mr. Crothers maintained that the responsibility for the wreck of the bank rested upon the shoulders of Hon. W. S. Fielding, who had been warned that the certificate should not be issued to Travers and his associates. The government, he said, was under a moral obligation to reimburse the depositors who had lost money.

Mr. Lemieux stated that the proposal to vote money for the depositors was due to promises made by Conservative candidates at the last general elections. He described the legislation as immoral and sectional, inasmuch as nothing was being done for the depositors of several Quebec banks which had failed.

Hon. Mr. Lemieux quoted the Montreal Gazette as being opposed to this legislation. He also quoted W. F. Nickle, Kingston, who stated that if they reimbursed the depositors of the Farmers Bank they should reimburse depositors in other banks which had failed in other provinces. Mr. Lemieux claimed that if the principle was admitted in this case it should be admitted in other cases. There was the same justification for reimbursement for depositors in the case of a bank which had failed in recent years in the province of Quebec.

Mr. Demers, of St. John's-Eberville, said that it was easy to see that the minister of finance was not so well disposed towards the Farmers Bank and the Banque Ville Marie, since members of the government had declared that the government would not reimburse the depositors in these institutions.

Mr. Demers said that Sir William Meredith had said in his findings that at most there had only been an error of judgment on the part of the minister of finance. The fact that the officers of the finance department were instrumental in granting a certificate to the Farmers Bank, and still held their positions, proved that the government did not really consider they had neglected their duties on the occasion. It was demagogic to denounce Mr. Fielding. The present bill was audacious and extravagant legislation for the benefit of the Conservative party.

E. W. Nesbitt, Liberal member for North Oxford, speaking at a late hour, defended Hon. W. S. Fielding, who, he said, was not guilty of any negligence. While not in favor of the principle of the bill, he said that a large number of his constituents were affected, and he would be forced to vote for it.

When the redistribution committee met last night, consideration of differences in Ontario, more particularly in regard to Russell county, which the Conservatives proposed to wipe out, was resumed. The Liberals would not agree to sign a report eliminating Russell, which is represented in the house by Hon. Charles Murphy. They maintained that it is now an old seat with a population exceeding the electoral unit by several thousands, and that it should not disappear from the political map. The Conservatives maintained that, as Ontario is losing seats, some of those in Ontario must be done away with, and that Russell could be conveniently divided amongst the surrounding constituencies.

Neither side would give way, and the committee adjourned for perhaps the last time, although it is possible that another effort will be made to straighten out the difficulty.

CANADIAN TO ADVISE ON WHEAT TRANSPORT

Melbourne, June 4.—The state of Victoria has been investigating the transport-of-wheat problem as the traffic is assuming large proportions, and farmers are finding facilities inadequate. The state ministry, after having held an inquiry into the matter, has decided to appoint J. P. Jones, of Fort William, Ont., a member of the Canadian grain commission, to report on the best methods of handling the traffic. It is felt that the experience of Mr. Jones has had in dealing with similar problems in Canada eminently fits him for the work the state government wishes him to carry out.

Any woman can keep her skin free from bothersome hairy or fuzzy growths by the following simple and speedy method: Mix a stiff paste with a little powdered delatone and some water; apply this to the objectionable hairs and let it remain about two minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and every hair will have vanished. No harm or inconvenience attends this method, but to be certain of results it is advisable to buy the delatone in a small original package.

TWO KNOWN IN DUNCAN WERE WRECK VICTIMS

Change of Station Name Needed; Paving Planned; Weekly Half-Holiday Begins

Duncan, June 3.—Miss de V. Hunt and Miss E. Berry, two of the passengers of the ill-fated Empress of Ireland, who are numbered among the missing are well known in the Cowichan district. Miss E. Berry resided here three years ago, while Miss de V. Hunt, who was engaged in women's immigration work, had many friends in the district, and paid many visits here.

A warm controversy has arisen between the Cowichan station residents and the Duncan and North Cowichan people through the action of the North Cowichan and city councils pressing upon the authorities to change the name of Cowichan station to some other title less confusing. At the present time a matter for North Cowichan is left off at Cowichan station, and great confusion is caused among passengers on the E. & N., who intend to visit North Cowichan, get off the train at Cowichan station assuming because of its name that Cowichan station is the center of the district. The Cowichan station ratapayers have met and discussed the action of North Cowichan and Duncan, and are planning steps to counteract possible effects.

Work will shortly be started on the laying of the first concrete pavement ordered by the city. The contract let by the council was for about $1,300. Portions of station and front street, leading business thoroughfares, and York road in the business section will be paved.

Saturday afternoon will mark the start of the weekly afternoon holidays as provided for in the by-law just passed by the city council at the request of the Retailers' association. The holiday will occur every week in the summer, May to September inclusive.

The usual ceremonies, including the distribution of gifts, will attend this potlatch. The grand climax will be the masked dance in which twenty Indian braves in native costumes and weird headpieces will take part. Chief Bill Quilatese, of Quilatese, will be official orator and master of ceremonies.

SCIENTISTS GO NORTH TO SEAL FISHERIES

United States First to Send Men Under Treaty Entered into in 1912.

Washington, June 4.—When the revenue cutter McCulloch sails from Seattle on June 8 for Alaska, it will carry three scientists designated by the department of commerce to investigate the condition of the seal fisheries. They are Professor George H. Parker, of Harvard university; Wilfrid H. Osgood, of the Field Museum, Chicago; and Edward A. Preble, of the United States biological survey. The party will be landed on St. Paul Island, of the Pribyloff group, and will remain for many weeks in the Alaskan islands.

Japan and Great Britain have also designated scientists to make an investigation of the seals there, and the representatives of those two countries will doubtless be with the American scientists part of the summer. Under a treaty entered into in 1912, the privilege of sending scientists to look into the American seal fisheries was accorded Great Britain and Russia. Russia has not indicated its intention to avail itself of the privilege.

CONSIDERS ROOSEVELT'S VISIT IS UNDESIRABLE

Madrid Paper Remembers That the Colonel Was a Volunteer Against Spaniards.

Madrid, June 3.—An editorial printed today in El Imparcial, the most influential and widely read paper in Spain, declares that Col. Roosevelt's approaching visit is undesirable. The El Imparcial editorial recalls that Col. Roosevelt fought as a volunteer against the Spaniards, and declares that his actions were most unkindly to Spain. The paper also reminds its readers of the strong anti-Spanish sentiment which prevailed in the United States at that time, and says that in a circus performance in New York, a trained monkey was exhibited, trampling on the Spanish flag, to the huge delight of the audience.

Homely, Yet Admired and Envied; Her Secret

"The convention crowd made a path for her, cast admiring side glances, then with longing eyes followed her to the elevator. It was at the Ponchartrain in Detroit. The incident was recalled when I chanced to sit across table from the woman. What was it about her that caused all that commotion? Her complexion. Really, I've never beheld its equal. Venturing to pick up acquaintance, I learned the secret. 'I've tried to make the most of my one charm,' she said. 'I know men adore make-ups and artificiality. I bar cosmetics; there are two things I use to promote natural loveliness and youthful appearance. When my complexion begins to age, I get an ounce of mercuriol wax at the drug store, apply at night like cold cream, wash it off in the morning. This gradually flakes off the outer skin; then I have a brand new complexion, naturally beautiful, as you see. 'Wrinkles never bother me. At their inception I bathe my face in a solution made by dissolving an ounce of powdered macolite in a half-pint of witch hazel. It works like magic.'—Mona Morrow in Tatler."

DOWN WITH 'EM!

Down with 'em! It is bad enough to hack masterpieces of art, assault cabinet ministers, break windows, destroy pavilions, devastate parks and perpetrate knavish tricks under the very shadow of the throne, but when it comes to assaulting a newspaper editor in his sanctum sanctorum with his own paste-pot, the limit is reached and patience becomes a crime. So we say with Richard of Gloucester, "To the Tower with 'em; so much for Pankhurst!" And from the whole fourth estate from London to Peking rolls up a fervent "Amen!"

Hitherto the gentle editor has escaped the atrocities of the rampant militants. He has been an interested spectator and commentator in the bleachers, chronicling for the information of the people the activities of the petticoated Philistines. By so doing he has been discharging his manifest duty to the reading public and unwittingly, perhaps given the movement an advertisement and a notoriety without which it would wither away. For this a paste-pot on the head and a hospital bill is his portion. What poet said that the "soul's calm sunshine, and the heartfelt joy is virtue's prize?" Newspaper men would like to know so that they may desecrate his monument.

The crashing sound of the impact of that paste receptacle on the editorial cranium in Belfast yesterday has reverberated around the world. Mightier than all the swords in Christendom, a hundred thousand bristling pen-points, each envenomed with slow poison, are aimed at doomed militancy. The campaign will be swift and decisive. It should open with the publication of the actual ages of the more violent devotees of Pankhurstiana. This would be a barbarously extreme measure and a violation of the rules laid down at the Geneva conference, which also declared against the use of hand-grenades, but in attacking an editor the enemy also is fracturing the canons of civilized warfare. However, it would be sufficient for the purpose. It would obliterate the British Camorra and avenge our brother, who at this moment is endeavoring to disentangle his hair and reduce his head to its normal proportions.

OUR MILLERS NOT SO DUSTY.

The Canadian millers in combine assembled have asked the Borden government to establish or subsidize a steamship line to carry the flour they produce across the Atlantic at cheaper rates than can be obtained from the existing steamship companies. Or, to put it in another way, the millers' combine is "up against" the steamship combine and prays the government for relief from the exactions of the vessel men.

The demand, coming from a trust, naturally the government will give it most serious consideration. The government was placed in power by a combination of combinations. How can it refuse?

It may be interesting to consider briefly the genesis of this movement organized by the Dominion Millers' Association. The facts are simple and easily set forth. The consumers of Great Britain can buy flour about a dollar a barrel cheaper than the consumers of Canada, where wheat is a staple product and where flour is or ought to be ground more cheaply from wheat than in Great Britain because of the economic value of our great water powers.

This is a point that has been made against our millers, and naturally they resent it and try to explain it. Their explanation is that relatively wheat is carried across the ocean by the steamship companies at lower rates than flour. Hence the British millers get their wheat at a comparatively low rate and are enabled to sell the flour they make at a low rate also. Consequently the millers ask the government to tax all the people of Canada and with the money collected to subsidize or establish steamships lines that will carry their flour at a low rate to Europe, where the people will obtain the chief necessity of life at still lower rates than they have been paying, although that rate already is at least a dollar a barrel less than the people are paying who are to be asked to tax themselves for the benefit of the millers primarily and for the benefit of European consumers ultimately. Could there possibly be a more convincing demonstration of the results of protection carried to its logical conclusion?

Then there is another and equally interesting and instructive point. The millers' combine, acting in conjunction with all the other combinations in Canada, have succeeded in preventing the farmers of Canada from selling their wheat in the market that will pay the highest figure for it. Consequently they can buy the chief product of farmers at prices practically fixed by themselves. Yet they ask the government to tax the farmers as well as other members of the community, and with the revenue thus raised to establish steamship lines that will carry their products at nominal rates to the very open market they deny wheat growers. Could selfishness reinforced by effrontery go further in its demands?

HINDU IMMIGRATION.

A correspondent in criticizing our attitude in regard to Hindu immigration puts this question: If the local considerations of less than half a million people in an isolated province are to be insisted upon to govern the world-wide relations of imperial policy and citizenship, how long can the imperial relationship be sustained? The point has been raised frequently by those who believe that our province is not inspired by a proper sense of its responsibility as a part of the British empire in its treatment of this phase of the Oriental immigration problem. In so doing they ignore the root principle of the question, and base their views upon the mistaken assumption that the ethical considerations applicable to immigrants from other countries can be applied to those from the Far East. Not having investigated the record, they overlook the fact that the Oriental races are incapable of assimilation into western civilization; that the two standards of life are as divergent as the poles; that wherever the experiment has been tried the admixture of the two, judging by its product, has been a lamentable failure, and that the effect of the unrestricted immigration of those people undoubtedly would tend to lower our standard of citizenship.

These are not vague theories due to hypersensitiveness. They are facts already established in South Africa, where, in some sections, white people have been confronted with the dilemma of accepting a standard of living revolting to their ideals or leaving for other parts. Australia and New Zealand appreciate the danger, and have erected barriers to all Oriental immigration. They know that it would be impossible to raise the Oriental standard to the level of their own, because if the doors were thrown wide open they would be outnumbered five to one. If the self-governing dominions concede the right of unrestricted entry to Hindus because they are British subjects, to people whom Great Britain regards as unfit to direct their own affairs, the resultant effect on their standard of civilization would not be such as to justify any pride in the fact that they belong to the British Empire, their fond boast of to-day.

Self-preservation is the first law of nature. It transcends even considerations of imperial relationship; in fact, if it is disregarded, if the quality of imperial citizenship deteriorates, if the white man must adopt the standard of the Oriental in his daily life in order to survive in his own country, then the civilization for which the empire stands is a menace and not a benefit to the Anglo-Saxon race. A white laborer cannot keep himself in decent circumstances, educate his children and otherwise fulfill the obligations society requires of him, on the wages out of which an Oriental can profit. In that established fact is the heart of the problem. Alongside that human proposition imperial considerations are insignificant indeed.

Great Britain holds India for reasons of strategy, commerce and prestige. For these purely material considerations Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa are asked by a certain class of well-meaning but short-sighted so-called imperialists to subject their people to an association demoralizing to their welfare. Our correspondent is mistaken when he suggests that the problem affects an "isolated province of less than half a million people." Once throw down the bars to Hindu immigrants, let them surge through in hundreds of thousands to the eastern cities, and we would hear no more beyond the Rockies of any lack of sympathy with British Columbia's attitude. There would be a chain of riots from Atlantic to the Pacific, which would strain British authority in India a thousand times more severely does than the refusal of Canada, Australia or New Zealand to admit them to the country.

True imperialism is not concerned solely with the problems of India but rather with the moral and material welfare and happiness of the people who compose the empire's population. It is no less important that the people of Australia, New Zealand or British Columbia should develop their heritage in accordance with Anglo-Saxon ideals than that Great Britain should retain India for the material considerations we have mentioned. If, as our correspondent says, eastern Canada does not sympathize with our attitude towards Hindu immigration, we are sorry for Eastern Canada. But we shall not abandon our position for we stand, not isolated, but on common ground with all the self-governing dominions on the Pacific.

SUGGESTION FOR MR. BOWSER.

The creator of Sherlock-Holmes is going to spend the summer at the Dominion park, in the Rockies. We suggest to the Attorney-General that it would be an excellent plan for him to enlist the assistance of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle in an effort to capture some of the numerous malefactors who are festively rambling throughout the province. For instance, the deductive genius of the distinguished author might be useful in locating Simon Gun-a-Noot or the lone survivor of the recent fatal raid on a bank in New Hazelton. We imagine that even the desperate expedient of invoking the aid of Sherlock Holmes would be justified in the circumstances. On his side Sir Arthur would find the diversion highly entertaining, besides furnishing him with plenty of inspiration and color for more fiction. Is it not possible to bring Sherlock Holmes, the infallible, and the Honorable W. J. Bowser, the invariably fallible, face to face?

British Columbia as viewed from the deck of the Komagata doubtless presents a very attractive appearance to our friend and fellow-subject Gurdit Singh and the company with him who are demanding the right of possession as British subjects. No doubt, also, the advance guard of the Hindus who have been dwelling in our midst have sent to their friends good reports of the advantages obtainable here. Nevertheless the age of miracles is past. People in these prosaic days are intensely practical. So Gurdit may survey Gilead from the masthead of his chartered ship, but the waters of Jordan (or the Inlet) will not be divided to confound those Canaanite immigration officers that the people chosen by Gurdit to vindicate a principle may go ashore upon dry land. At least we think not. We are sorry that the conditions are what they are and we sympathize with our fellow-subjects in their disappointment, but their ways are not our ways, and in this case our thoughts are in conflict with their thoughts.

A contemporary says the history of aviation has been written in blood from the first flight up to to-day. That is a fact the Times always has noted and sometimes has been chided for as being sceptical about the success of modern inventions and improvements. The flying machine may be destined to play an important part in human activities, but to establish its utility is going to cost something in human life. We are told the greatest aviation meet ever held will take place shortly in Great Britain, but it will be devoted to a demonstration of the value of the flying machine as an agency for the destruction of the lives of men. The aim of war is destruction, and it is fitting that the flying machine should be a part of the appurtenances of the business.

It is reported that the Hindus immigrated on board the Komagata Maru are talking about going on a hunger strike in the hope that their sufferings may move the stony hearts of immigration officials to let them go. That would be an interesting but ineffective experiment. The hearts of immigration officials are desperately hard. Besides, Gurdit has the contract for feeding his company, and upon him will be the responsibility should any evil consequences follow a hunger strike.

The men of Britain should organize an equal rights league. They should demand the removal of the discrimination against their sex in regard to prison treatment. Suffragists guilty of serious crimes are given their liberty upon going on hunger strikes; men offenders who try the same tactics are kept in confinement, and allowed to starve themselves to death. This is unfair to the men. Even the criminal classes are entitled to even-handed justice. The suffragists are playing with stacked cards.

Miss Pethick says that if the government rested on physical force Bombardier Wells and Jack Johnson would be governors as well as prize fighters. She is mistaken. Whatever may be the exalted dignity to which the Hon. J. A. Johnson's peculiar talents might have raised him a few years ago, we are sure Bombardier Wells on his record never would have been a governor. In fact we doubt if he would have reached the status of the governor's janitor.

A correspondent yesterday criticized the provincial government's penchant for looking across the international boundary line for its technical men. But this is the inevitable reaction from the fine frenzy in which Sir Richard and his merry men saved the empire two years ago. Surely our correspondent knows that the people who prate the loudest of their patriotism are the very first to abandon their lofty principles when the test comes.

Titles in Germany, it appears, are bought and sold now just as they are in every country where they are thought to possess a marketable value. There could be no clearer demonstration of the fact that the world has outgrown "articles" of that kind. We are living in an age which has no reverence for and little patience with gew-gaws and baubles.

ALDERMEN ORDER MORE

BUILDINGS REMOVED

Sit as Board of Health; Will Visit Some Premises Tuesday

Evidence was heard by the aldermen, sitting as a board of health this morning, on a number of condemned buildings which were reported by the health officials as dilapidated and insanitary, and for which they sought orders of removal.

At the previous session the aldermen had passed through about half the list of some 65 which had been scheduled for destruction. During this morning's hearing Dr. G. A. B. Hall, medical health officer, stated that the city had considerable difficulty in getting rid of certain classes of property, because there were always found certain people willing to get premises for a few dollars' rental, not caring in what condition they were left.

Eventually the board adjourned to sit again next Thursday, arranging to examine some premises in dispute on Tuesday next.

There seemed a prospect of the meeting falling through for lack of a quorum, but at the last moment Ald. Fullerton arrived, making the necessary six members in attendance. Opposition was heard to the condemnation of frame stables, sheds and lean-tos on sub lot 3-4, lot 791, block 16, at the rear of 1117 Quadra street, owned by Mrs. Mary McDonald. Mr. McDonald asked for an extension of time, but the medical officer of health said that two years ago the property would have been removed but for the plea then advanced. Now, he believed, the board should insist on the removal. This the aldermen did.

A. W. Bridgman, agent for the owners of a frame dwelling, sheds and lean-tos on lot 274, block 22, situated at 837 Fort street, in the Hardway estate, resisted the condemnation of those premises. He produced the tenant, who declared the buildings were in good condition. The board decided to stand over the issuance of an order to allow of an inspection by the aldermen.

E. M. Johnson wanted to know what he was to do "against a rat, a fly, a microbe, the health officer, and the city solicitor." In connection with property at 712 Burdette avenue. He stated he was the agent of the house in front, but that the buildings sought to be condemned were in the rear, being rented with the house. The health officials were very emphatic that the property was in a very bad condition.

The board issued a condemnation order after a long hearing. In another case in which Mr. Johnson appeared, affecting land and buildings at the junction of Esquimalt road and Dundas street, the officials reported that the cottage was not in the bad condition of the stable adjacent and the board ordered the stable to be removed immediately and the cottage pulled down if not put in sanitary condition within 30 days.

In some 20 cases there were no appearances in opposition, and orders were issued for immediate destruction.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

Victoria Times, Tuesday, June 4, 1889.

The report that Edwin Booth and Lawrence Barrett, the great tragedians, would play in Victoria on June 10 and 11 is not correct. The actors completed their engagement in San Francisco on Saturday and left by special train for the east. Mrs. Modjeska, with the major portion of the Booth and Barrett company, will do the northern circuit, arriving here on the dates mentioned. After three months Mrs. Modjeska will again join Booth, when the company will be reorganized without Barrett.

The Russian man-of-war Kreysser anchored in the harbor at Vancouver on Sunday afternoon. She sailed this morning via Seymour Narrows for Vladivostok, the terminus of the Siberian railway, and will be stationed in the North Pacific for three years.

The Lorne was launched from Laing's ways yesterday afternoon, and was towed to Spratt's wharf this morning to receive her machinery.

The steamer Sir James Douglas, under command of Capt. Gaudin, left to-day with supplies for the various lighthouses.

Story of R. N. W. Mounted Police.—At the monthly meeting of the British Campaigners to be held on June 18, Col. McIlree will give an address on the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, to which the members of the Mounted Police Association in this city will be invited.

Hindus Subscribe Money.—Bhavant Singh, priest of the Hindu temple at Vancouver, came over to Victoria yesterday and called a meeting of the local Hindus at the Sikh temple to ask that money be raised for the aid of the men on the Komagata Maru. The Vancouver Hindus have given large sums of money to assist them, and he thought the Victoria men should give their share also. A large sum was subscribed and Bhavant Singh waited over until to-day to obtain the money which he will take over with him this evening.

New Unit Almost Ready.—Reporting that the power house at Jordan river is just finished and that the machinery will be put in within a week, the local manager and the superintendent of the B. C. Electric railway returned to the city last night from a tour of inspection of the company's plant there. The officials went all over the works and up to the great dam, and they report excellent progress on all the work. The electrical part of the equipment for the new unit is now on its way westward from Peterboro, while the water wheel is coming from Montreal.

Farwell to Pastor.—A pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hardwick, when the members of the Berean Bible class and choir of Belmont Methodist church met to bid farewell to Rev. and Mrs. B. H. Balderston, who are leaving for White Rock, B. C. The evening was spent with music and games. T. Varker, on behalf of the choir, presented Mr. Balderston a fountain pen and Dr. Stewart, on behalf of the Berean Bible class, presented Mrs. Balderston several pieces of silverware.

Move to Belmont Block.—Until the completion of the addition which is being put on the post office building all the mail and express customs business will be carried on from the offices opened this morning in the Belmont building, where a large room has been taken for the work of this department. The holiday yesterday was taken as an opportunity for removing to the new offices, which are entered from Humboldt street and first thing this morning the department commenced its regular work, although one or two of the carpenters are still busy putting the finishing touches to the interior. The change is only temporary, as immediately on completion of the additions to the post office building the department will re-transfer to its old quarters.

To Meet Each Month.—Mrs. Baer yesterday afternoon entertained the Women's Alliance of the First Unitarian church at her home, 417 Vancouver street, the discussion of copper coinage and other economic questions being opened by Mrs. Barton. The speaker announced that she had no intention of encroaching on the field so recently covered by Mrs. Foulkes, who had promised to address the Woman's Alliance. Mrs. Barton also gave a short resume of the Cupola, "The Happy Child," and augmented this by giving some points of psychological and eugenical interest. The latter part of the programme was of a less formal character. Mrs. Baer providing several pianoforte selections, and delicious afternoon tea being served. Meetings are to be held regularly on the first Wednesday of each month, to which the public will be welcomed. The third Wednesday of the month will be devoted to business, and the first of these meetings will take place on June 17 at the residence of Mrs. Barton, 1054 Southgate street.

AGAIN THE STYLES CHANGE

The light attire of summer is now in order—the silks, the linens, and the lingers supplant the heavy suits.

It is even time to think about the new fashions in bathing suits. How is one to keep posted on such vital news. The answer is right within the folds of this newspaper—in the advertising columns.

The stores interpret the new styles in merchandise and use their advertising to let the people know what they are doing.

The woman who is up to date is a close reader of advertising in these periods of style transition.

HONORED THE DAY.

Sons of England Marked King's Birthday With Enjoyable Smoking Concert.

In honor of the king's birthday, Alexandra lodge of the Sons of England Benevolent society gave a smoking concert last night, at the Friends hall, Courtney street, after the close of the regular business of the lodge. It was one of the best concerts ever held by the Sons of England here, excellent talent having been secured. The concert opened with a toast to his majesty, proposed by Worthy President Bro. D. Brown, which was responded to with the singing of God Save the King. There were many appropriate patriotic songs, of which "The Englishman," by Mr. Swarbrick; "Long Live the King," by Mr. Collins and the "Death of Nelson," by Bro. Savage, were particularly appreciated. The recitation of "The Revenge" by Bro. Bailey was excellently rendered.

Past President Bro. Geo. Jay, called upon for a few words, commented upon the day that all true Englishmen should celebrate the birthday of the sovereign and in a very interesting manner showed the wonderful influence the Union Jack has upon foreign nations. Mr. Griffiths sang several songs varying from sentimental to ragtime. Mr. Mundy entertained with a couple of comic songs, one of which involved the names of several members of the order. Past President Bro. Appleby recited "The Boy From Waterford," and received much applause. Mr. Meehan's song, "John Bull and Jonathan," was very well received. The "Pride of the Island" orchestra, Bros. Brightwell (violin), Holland (cello) and Donna (piano) added much to the enjoyment of the evening. The evening closed with a vote of thanks to the chairman and to those who assisted in the programme.

PROVED GREAT ATTRACTION.

"Lucille Love, The Girl of Mystery," proved to be a great drawing card, as usual, at the Romano theatre yesterday afternoon and evening. Since the time when the first two reels of the series were shown, it has become quite a common occurrence to have the S. R. O. Sign, out at this theatre very early, every time the pictures of Lucille Love are shown. Lucille's adventures are becoming more and more thrilling as each series is unfolded on the screen, and with eight more weeks yet to run, the movie fans can look forward to some pretty big thrills. This picture will be shown at the above theatre again this evening.

FAMOUS SONG WRITER IN CITY.

One of the big features at the Variety theatre for the last three days this week, commencing to-night, will be "Don & Mabel Garrison," singing their own songs. Donald Garrison is the composer and publisher of a large number of popular songs. His latest success being "I'm Going Back to San Francisco Town" (1913). This song was written especially for the fair at "Frisco" in 1913. Mr. Garrison has a very fine baritone voice, and should be heard to advantage, in a number of his own selections. Mabel Garrison also has a very sweet voice. Their special scenery and effects, make a very pretty stage setting, and taken all in all, their act generally is of the highest order.

Dier Will Probated.—Elmore Dier's action to have the will of his father the late W. A. Dier, set aside, has been withdrawn and this morning without any contest Frank Higgins, counsel for the executor, Dr. Roy Dier, ex-mayor of Ladysmith, obtained an order for probate by Chief Justice Hunter. Elmore Dier, who is a mining broker living in Philadelphia, began his proceedings by filing a caveat, but no more steps have been taken. The estate is valued at approximately $100,000.

To See Authorities.—At the meeting of the Trades and Labor council last evening the question of unemployment was discussed at some length. A committee composed of J. Day, Christian Siverts and G. Mathison was appointed and instructed to secure interviews with the provincial government and the city council to ascertain what steps can be taken to work an improvement in conditions. One of the suggestions the committee hopes to make is that the government and the city council start further public works in and around the city so that there will be room for the employment of more workmen. The dates of the interviews have not been set as yet.

is Well Known Journalist.—A well known London journalist and traveler is in the city to-day in the person of O. F. ### DEEPENING APPROACH TO QUARANTINE DOCK

Ajax to Put 35 Feet of Water at William Head; to Dig in Royal Bay

Following the arrival of huge liners as the Empress of Asia, Empress of Russia and Niagara, it has been found that there is not sufficient water alongside the big dock at William Head to allow the ships to tie up without running the risk of grounding at low water. In order to dredge away a great deal of the mud at the berths at the quarantine station the dredger Ajax was towed from Victoria this morning, and for about one week she will drive her dipper into the muddy bottom. The Ajax is to put 35 feet of water alongside the dock.

The liners in calling at William Head for pratique generally drop anchor and do not move at the dock. It is only in cases when infectious disease is discovered on inbound boats that they are ordered to the dock for fumigation. The officials are taking the precaution now of deepening the approach to the dock so that at any time one of the big liners is placed in quarantine, she will not be forced to lie out in the stream, thereby lengthening the process of fumigation.

Goes to Royal Bay.

When the Ajax has finished her work at William Head she will be towed to the place in Royal Bay where Grant, Smith & McDowell, contractors for the new outer harbor piers, have leased a piece of property for securing gravel for use in concrete work. The digging job there will be a heavy one, and it is not likely that the Ajax will be through for one month. A wharf will be built in the bay for the scows and tugs to lie alongside, but before this can be done the dredger will have to dig her way well into the beach. There is very little dredging work for the Ajax to do in the inner harbor at the present time, so she is being dispatched to do these odd jobs.

ASTORIA'S LUMBER SHIPMENTS.

Astoria, Ore., June 4.—During the month of May thirty vessels, carrying 29,964,000 feet of lumber, cleared from the mills in the lower river district. Twenty-nine of these vessels, with 22,467,000 feet of lumber, sailed for coastwise points, while four, carrying 7,497,000 feet of lumber, went to foreign ports. In the same period thirty-nine vessels loaded 49,726,165 feet of lumber at the upper river mills, making a grand total of 79,690,165 feet of lumber that was shipped in cargoes from the Columbia river during the month of May.

IXION MADE SPEEDY TRIP FROM YOKOHAMA

Blue Funnel Liner Here in 12 Days and 13 Hours; Bad Outward Voyage

Having maintained an average speed of nearly 14 knots an hour throughout the entire voyage from Yokohama, the Blue Funnel liner Ixion, Capt. Reppenhausen, arrived at the outer docks shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon after a remarkably smart passage of 12 days and 13 hours. The mammoth steamship made port over 36 hours ahead of her schedule. Although she completed a very speedy run, the Ixion did not break the record of the Protetia, which stands at 12 days and 5 hours for the trans-Pacific voyage. The officers of the Ixion do not think that they can snatch the blue ribbon from the famous flyer of the Blue Funnel fleet.

Capt. Reppenhausen said that the weather during the inward run was very good. From Liverpool, which port she cleared on March 25, the Ixion drove right along without any interruption from storms. Two days of dense fog were met with in the vicinity of the 180th Meridian, but they did not delay the ship to any extent.

Bad Outward Trip.

The voyage from Yokohama to Victoria was of quite a different nature from the whirlwind passage she logged on her last trip in the opposite direction. She cleared this port at the end of last November and there was a strong southeast gale blowing when she started out. Gales of great velocity howled during all of the trip to the Japanese port. When in mid-Pacific the storm reached a hurricane and for nine hours it assailed the ship. When it dropped the weather became squally and a mountainous sea started to run. So violently was the Ixion pitching and rolling that her master deemed it advisable to heave her to and in 24 hours she steamed just 68 miles. The seas swept clear over the ship and one carried a seaman who was working on the boat deck over the side. It was impossible to effect a rescue in the sea which was running. One of the lifeboats was demolished and three others were damaged by the great seas. The Ixion was 19 days reaching Yokohama.

One hundred and thirty-three Chinese, all of whom are return men, disembarked at this port from the Ixion. Forty-seven others are going through to Seattle and Tacoma. After the local party had landed, the Ixion proceeded to Sound ports. She will return here to discharge several hundred tons of cargo early next week. The Ixion carries a half cargo of general freight.

NEW COMMANDER FOR SHEARWATER SOON

Commander Trousdale to Relieve Commander Walter; Gunnery Scores

When the British sloop-of-war Shearwater returns to Esquimalt from Mexican waters, her present commander, Frederick H. Walter, will leave her and proceed to the Old Country. Commander Charles W. Trousdale has been appointed to succeed Commander Walter, and it is understood that the change will be made on June 25, providing the Shearwater can leave the seaboard of the troubled republic in the south.

Commander Trousdale has been in the service since January, 1888. He was promoted to Lieutenant in 1894, and reached his present rank in December 1907. He is an ex-gunners officer and has just completed the war college course. This is the first time that he has been ordered to the Esquimalt station. Commander Walter, who is now in charge of the Shearwater in Mexican waters, has been in command of the Pacific squadron for the past two years, having relieved Commander Vivian. It is understood that the re-commissioning of the Shearwater will be carried out next November. A number of the officers and blue-jackets are due for return tickets to Portsmouth.

Gunnery Scores.

At her heavy gun-layers' tests last year the Shearwater fired twenty-three rounds from her four-inch guns, and made 40.00 points, on an average of 1.20 hits per gun. Her best shot was Petty Officer N. McCulloch, who made two hits out of six rounds fired. The Algerine, Commander R. G. Corbett commanding, did much better. She fired seventeen rounds from her four-inch guns and made a total of 58.33, on an average of 1.75 hits per gun. Her best shot was Leading Seaman A. Lorraine. The Algerine, however, did much better in the preceding year when she fired on an average of three per gun.

Port Townsend, Wash., June 4.—The barquentine Irmgard, Capt. Southard, arrived from Dunedin on Tuesday night, and will shift to Eagle harbor to-day to dock for repairs. The Irmgard sailed last December from the Columbia river with lumber. From the time she passed out until she reached Dunedin she was leaking freely, and to keep her clear both pumps were worked continuously, exhausting the coal for one of the pumps. Thirty cases of gasoline were also consumed in operating the power pump. After being four days out on the return voyage, Capt. Southard discovered that his chronometer was not properly adjusted. He was obliged to return, and learned it had been set to New Zealand time, it being 30.04 slow. When ten days out he spoke the schooner Laxon, bound for Dunedin. The long passage of the Irmgard was due to unfavorable weather. Upon arriving at a point 150 miles off Cape Flattery the vessel was becalmed for five days. During the return voyage the Irmgard did not leak. After coming out of the dry dock she will await orders.

FAIR OAKS' DAMAGES.

San Francisco, June 4.—The steam schooner Fair Oaks, which was ashore near Lime Point on Monday, has been docked, and her cargo is being transferred to the wharf and to barges which have been brought alongside. The vessel has a large hole in her hull and a portion of the keel from the forefoot, well aft of amidships, has been torn away. She is leaking badly and immediately after the work of discharging the cargo has been completed she will be surveyed and taken to a drydock for repairs.

NO CALL AT RUPERT FOR SOME TIME YET

Blue Funnel Management Denies Rumor Current on Coast

London, June 4.—The management of the Blue Funnel line states that it will be a long time before the Blue Funnel steamers call at Prince Rupert. These steamers now call monthly at Victoria and Vancouver.

There have been repeated reports published on this coast of late stating that the Blue Funnel line would very shortly extend its operations to Prince Rupert. These rumors have reached the ears of the officials and have resulted in the above message being sent over the wire to the Times. Judging from the tone of the dispatch, the company intends to include Prince Rupert in its ports of call, but it will be some time in the future before such a move is made.

So far Prince Rupert has not been linked up by a permanent steamship connection with foreign ports. The Maple Leaf liners steam to the northern port occasionally and a Harrison steamship is piloted up the inside passage once in a while. The G. T. P. terminal is anxious to get some connection and the last report to come from there was to the effect that an Old Country company had ordered ten 10,000-ton steamships for a new service from Liverpool to that port via the Panama canal. The Furness-Withy yards at West Hartlepool, in conjunction with Houlder Bros., of Liverpool, are to build the ships. The fleet is to cost $5,000,000.

When the business warrants it the companies running here will be prepared to run into Prince Rupert and the Blue Funnel now have their eyes on the trade.

TESTING AIR

School Rooms Are Under Investigation; Board Considers Building Programme.

This afternoon the city school board was called to meet to consider the building programme in connection with the proposed addition to the spaces available, particularly in the Hollywood district. The board is now in a position to let a contract for the Margaret Jenkins school in that district, while the new Hillside school is also scheduled to receive early attention.

The growing sentiment in favor of the best system of hygiene having hurried attention to the subject, much has been said lately about the air breathed in the class-rooms of the public schools. As a result, Dr. Hall, medical officer, who is also a school trustee, has requested City Analyst Birch to take samples of air in the class-rooms. The present series of tests is almost completed, but as the conditions of summer are not those of winter, further samples will be taken later, probably in six months' time. Complaint having been received, particularly with regard to the new High school, special attention is being given to that building, where doubtless the odors of fresh paint and varnish have created abnormal conditions.

NOT AMONG RESCUED

Telegram Received Announcing Death of Another Victoria Woman in Empress of Ireland Disaster.

News of the loss of another Victoria resident on the ill-fated Empress of Ireland was conveyed to the sorrowing relatives to-day by a telegraph message from the scene of the disaster.

On board the Empress when she sailed from Quebec was Mrs. Francis Thompson, of Hillside, who left her husband and her little boy in Victoria, while she went to pay a visit to her sick daughter in the old country. She was destined, however, never to reach her daughter's side for when the liner foundered in the St. Lawrence she was drowned.

Word to this effect was received by the husband to-day from Rimouski as follows:

"Mrs. Francis Thompson, of Victoria, not among the rescued."
A fitting memorial service is to be held at the Oaklands Gospel hall on Sunday evening at 7. The late Mrs. Thompson was an ardent member and worker for the Gospel hall and had many friends among the congregation, who will, on Sunday, pay tribute to her memory.

BASEBALL AND LACROSSE SAME DAY COAST TEAMS WILL PLAY HERE JUNE 13

B. C. L. A. Decides to Transfer Game to Oak Bay Grounds; Bees Meet Portland Colts at Park; School League Game

Lacrosse and baseball will compete for the favor of the Victoria sporting enthusiasts on Saturday, June 13, according to an announcement from Vancouver. The Westminster and Vancouver teams in the B. C. L. A. have decided to transfer one of their games to the capital on that date, while the Bees are scheduled to meet the Portland Colts here the same day. The Victoria ball club management states that there will be no change in the baseball schedule, which means that there will be two big attractions for Saturday week. The lacrosse teams will play at Oak Bay while the baseball teams will stage their game at the Royal Athletic park, as usual.

Vancouver, June 4.—A reduction in the price of admission to future matches both in Vancouver and New Westminster was authorized at a meeting of the B. C. Lacrosse association held last night. In future the general admission will be 50c with 25c additional for the grandstand. The bleachers will be free. Delegates were in attendance from the Vancouver and New Westminster clubs and several routine matters were discussed. It was decided to play the match scheduled for June 13 in Victoria on that date. The teams will go over to the Capital City on Friday, June 12. For next Saturday's scheduled match in New Westminster George Tuck, of Vancouver, and Bob Chene, of New Westminster, were selected to referee. The appointment of officials for the match in Victoria was deferred for a few days.

Manager Poulin will to-night make his final selection of the Victoria amateur twelve that will travel to Vancouver on Saturday, the locals holding their last workout this evening. Frank Sweeney will undoubtedly figure on the Victoria defence, and unless Jerry Clute turns out this evening Joe Mitchell will be given a chance to make good on the home. The Victoria team will leave to-morrow night.

South Park and Central teams played a 3-6-3 draw at Beacon Hill last evening in a school league fixture, the evening in a school league fixture, the evening in a school league fixture.

IMPORTANT AMATEUR GAME AT BALL PARK

Commercial League Leaders Will Clash To-morrow Evening; Amateur Gossip

What is looked upon as the crucial game in the opening series of the Commercial league will be staged to-morrow evening at the Royal Athletic park, when the Allied Printers and Bapcos clash. Both of these teams include players who are of City league calibre, and while the Bapcos have dropped one game to the outlaws, the club has been strengthened, and they expect to take a fall out of their opponents. The Printers will work Townsley, with Cox, the former St. Francis backstop, behind the plate. Kerr and Robertson will be in the points for the Bapcos. The game is called for 8.15 sharp, and admission will be free.

A meeting of the Commercial league will be held to-morrow night, when the action of the A. A. U. in refusing cards to several of the registered players will be brought up. The disbanding of the St. Francis semi-pro club has released a number of good ball players, and the Commercial league clubs are snapping up these men further to strengthen their teams. Bapcos, Outlaws and Printers are heading the fight. The officers of the league claim that they affiliated with the A. A. U. with the understanding that all of their players would be given amateur cards, and they declare that the A. A. U. has fallen down in this respect. The league will take action at once to protect its clubs. It is said that the league will withdraw from the A. A. U. should the latter refuse to carry out the agreement.

This evening the White Sox and Cardinal baseball nines will clash at Oak Bay in a league game. The junior fixtures will be games between the Senators and White Sox and the Beacon Hills and Camosuns. Beacon Hills and the Camosuns have never met before and an evenly-contested game is anticipated.

The Senators and White Sox met recently, the result being a win for the former after a hard struggle. Red Sox and B. C. Electricians played a 5-all draw at the Royal Athletic park last evening. The game was called on account of darkness. In an intermediate city game, the Capitals defeated Esquimalt 8 to 2.

Shortt, Hill and Duncan won from the Civic Athletic association 8 to 6. "O'Brien" was in the box for the winners.

youngsters putting up a splendid exhibition of the national game. These teams are tied for the leadership of the students' organization, and from the evenness of the clubs as shown in last night's match, a merry battle for the championship is looked for.

Two Vancouver players, Crookall and Peacock, are leading the B. C. league in scoring with four goals each in two matches.

It is expected that there will be a general shakeup of the clubs in the Northwestern league, and there is every probability that the project to include Butte and Helena in the Fiedler Jones circuit once more may be carried out. Portland will be dropped, the Rose City magnates having already decided upon that course. Butte formerly held a Northwestern league franchise, and if the league can get a good baseball magnate to take over the holdings of a club in that city, the same should be capable of profitable development in that town once more. Victoria right now is the third best drawing city in the league. Tacoma is drawing very poor crowds, while over in Spokane Mike Lynch's backers are having a fine old time getting the fans to support the Indians.

Vancouver, June 4.—Portland broke into the winning column yesterday after a long string of reverses, defeating Vancouver in the first game of a double-header, and holding the Beavers even in the second game, neither team scoring. Coltrin's sensational fielding and fine pitching by all twirlers featured the games.

Score (first game)—H. H. E. Vancouver..... 1 3 3 Portland..... 9 2 2 Batteries—Hunt and Grindle; Callahan and Murray.

Score (evening game)—R. H. E. Vancouver..... 0 2 2 Portland..... 0 2 0 Called ninth, darkness. Batteries—Daly and Grindle; Eastley and Haworth.

Spokane, June 4.—Batting Boice for nine hits and as many runs in five innings and getting six more hits off Kraft, which, aided by rugged fielding on the part of the visitors, were good for five more tallies. Spokane won yesterday's game from Tacoma, 14-3. Brotten's home run in the seventh was a feature.

Score—R. H. E. Tacoma..... 3 5 5 Spokane..... 14 15 2 Batteries—Boice, Kraft and Brotten; Covaleskie, Altman and Shea.

DAVIS CUP FINALS

AWARDED TO BOSTON

New York, June 4.—The challenge matches for the Davis International Tennis cup have been awarded to the West Side Tennis club at Forest Hills, Long Island. The final round between the challenging nations will be played at Longwood, Boston.

Australasia, England, Canada, France, Germany, Belgium and the United States will take part in this year's series for the cup. The preliminary rounds will be played during July, with the finals between the winners of the preliminary round and the United States, holders of the trophy, early in August. Canada is drawn against Australasia in the first round.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 13, 14 and 15, have been selected by the United States National Lawn Tennis association as the dates for the final matches for the Davis cup.

Skinner Poulin will hold his final workout for the Vancouver game this evening.

REFEREE CHOSEN FOR LONDON BOUT

Ritchie to Give White a Chance If He Defeats Freddie Welsh

Chicago, June 4.—If Willie Ritchie successfully defends his title against Freddie Welsh in London on June 30 in a twenty-round contest the champion has agreed to meet Charley White in a championship battle in San Francisco on Thanksgiving Day.

This bit of information was gleaned from Nate Lewis, manager of White, who received a long letter from Jimmy Coffroth, the California promoter. The western impresario conveyed the news that Ritchie has given him his word he will meet White upon his return to this country and Coffroth already has named the date.

According to Lewis, the only hitch which may prevent the battle is the weight. White's manager will insist that Ritchie make 133 pounds, one hour before the battle. This is the poundage Willie made for Wolgast when he defeated the Michigan Bearcat, and it is only in traditional for the champion to defend the title at the same figures he won the crown.

Emil Thiry, the new manager of Ritchie, said his fighter would be ready to meet White upon his return, and he also asserted the champion would beat Welsh easily. Thiry left for New York to meet Bob Vernon, America's representative of the London syndicate which will stage the Ritchie-Welsh battle. Ritchie's manager went east to sign the articles and look after other details.

White has been signed by a local theatrical syndicate to appear before the footlights for ten weeks. Charley will receive $1,000 for the first week and $800 for each of the remaining weeks. If satisfactory inducements are offered White may meet Johnny Griffiths in Canton, O., on July 4.

Chicago, June 4.—Eugene Corri, the noted English fight referee, will officiate in the Freddie Welsh-Willie Ritchie world's lightweight championship bout in London the last day of the present month. That was one of the conditions to the match laid down by Ritchie.

Since King George, who celebrated his forty-ninth birthday yesterday came to the throne there have been several crusades against boxing in England, and that they have all failed is due in no small part to attitude of the British monarch.

Since the days of Figg, who became the first pugilistic champion of England early two centuries ago, boxers have enjoyed the approval of all English kings. George I. issued a royal command to Figg to appear before him, and was greatly pleased with the exhibition. The second George's reign was marked pugilistically by the rise of such great boxers as Taylor, Broughton and Black, and the king on several occasions occupied the royal box at Broughton's amphitheatre.

The reign of George III. was the palmy period of British boxing, when Mendoza, Jackson, Belcher, Pearce and Cribb, among others, were in the lime-light. In 1814 the king gave a boxing exhibition in honor of the visit of the rulers of Russia and Prussia, and three monarchs and many princes and nobles witnessed the contests. Belcher and a number of other boxers were guards of honor at the coronation of George IV. During Queen Victoria's reign boxing received a black eye, but the game was saved by the Chambers and Queensberry rules, and the Prince of Wales, afterward King Edward, aided in so far as was in his power to save boxing.

HIGHEST SCORE AT CRICKET THIS YEAR

F. R. Foster Registers 305, Not Out, for Warwickshire; Local Matches

London, June 4.—Worcestershire were the victims of the most decisive defeat of the cricket season when they were beaten by an innings and 321 runs by Warwickshire, in a county match at Dudley, started on Whit-Monday. The match, which took just over two days to finish, was featured by some splendid batting by the Warwickshires' retired captain, F. R. Foster, who registered the highest score this season with a total of 305, not out. Parsons also hit up a century for the winners with 102. In the second innings F. E. Field bowled brilliantly, six of the Worcesters' wickets falling for two runs, this being the second best performance by any first class bowler.

At Leicester the Leicestershire eleven beat Northamptonshire by 214 runs. Coe, for the winners, batted well, compiling a total of 252 off Northampton's offerings, while Mounteney scored 55 and Whitehead 52. S. G. Smith was Northampton's best batsmen with 54, and G. J. Thompson made 52.

Somerset defeated Gloucestershire by seven wickets at Taunton. B. L. Blagood compiled a century for Somerset, his total being 116. Stanley Rippen, with 60, and J. C. W. McBryan, with 61, were also high scorers. For Gloucester, Dipper equalled his last year's high score with 165, not out, that being the exact number with which he headed Gloucester's high scores last season. S. O. H. Sewell batted well with 113. The Men's Own C. C. has the following dates still open: June 20, July 4 and August 22; all matches to be away from home. The honorary secretary (address, Congregational church) will be glad to receive communications from other clubs which can play on these dates.

Albions took an easy match from the Oak Bay eleven yesterday at Beacon Hill, the final figures showing the Albions leading by 54 runs. E. W. Ismay, with 45, not out, was the leading batsman. Freeman hit for 36, this being the best score for the Oak Bay club. Brain and Ismay starred for the losers, taking most of the Oak Bay wickets by clever bowling.

In an exciting match on the Canteen grounds yesterday the Restorer eleven defeated the Navy by 21 runs. Stone and Woods hit well for the winners, while Haines led the sailors.

Winnipeg, June 4.—The annual meeting of the Canadian Cricket association, held here, decided to make Montreal its headquarters for this year. This created some excitement, being in direct opposition to the spirit of the 1911 meeting, when two international games had to be played before headquarters were moved. Winnipeg and the west generally are strongly opposed to the decision of the meeting. The western men claim that an injustice has been done the west, and threaten to withdraw from the Canadian body. The ballot in favor of Montreal was swung by proxy votes.

HARD-FOUGHT GAME WENT TO SEATTLE

Steele Twirled Fine Ball, but Driscoll Had Off Day; Score 4 to 3

Poor outfielding by Babe Driscoll cost Victoria a hard-fought game at Seattle yesterday. The Giants got away with a 4 to 3 decision chiefly through the inability of Driscoll to clutch the cork centre with men on the sacks. The reformed slab-artist booted one in the eighth that paved the way for Seattle to the score after the Bees had given Bobby Steele a three-run lead. Victoria pounded Al Gipe to all parts of the field, but the Seattle hitters managed to squeeze three runs across the rubber in the eighth on Driscoll's error, two bases on balls and a couple of dinky hits. In the ninth with the score standing three to three, Martini asked to Driscoll and the latter's vision was blurred long enough to cause him to drop the ball, the runner going to second, Teasley Raymond's single put over the winning tally.

It was a tough defeat for the Victoria port-sider, who held Seattle to a brace of hits up to the eighth session. Victoria touched up Gipe freely, Driscoll's double counting a brace of runs in the second inning, while another was chalked up in the fifth. Nye and Brooks led the locals, and the Bees rather in nine safeties. The locals tossed away a run or two by trying to stretch hits, perfect throws cutting off Driscoll and Willhoit. These outs were followed by hits, so that the breaks surely followed Seattle's men yesterday. Scanlon was again in right field. He handled three chances nicely, one of them being a line throw to second, cutting off a runner.

MOTOR BOAT RACES.

Chicago, June 4.—Sixteen entries have been received so far for the American speedboat championships, to be held here in September. Chairman A. Sheldon Clark of the regatta committee announced yesterday that he had received the entry of Ankle Deep from Count C. Simir Mankowski. This boat cleaned up all the races in the east last year, and was chosen with Disturber III. to go to England and race for the international trophy at Cowes.

Calvo will certainly bolster up the Victoria outfield and help along in the hitting.

To Make Rubber Roofing at Sidney

Complete Plant Equipped and soon to be Operating — Will have Many Advantages — Big Oil-Burning Ships will Bunker at Company's Tank

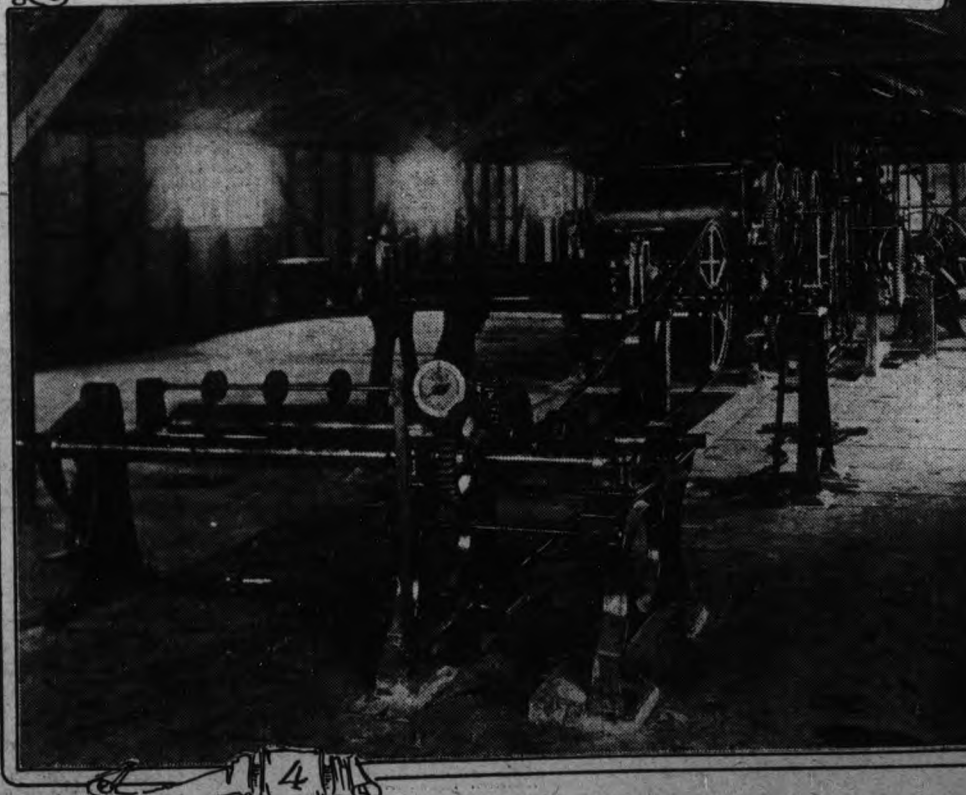

1. VIEW OF PLANT

2. VIEW OF STILL, CONDENSORS AND AGITATORS

3. PRESENT WHARF

4. ROOFING MACHINE

While a new chapter in the story of oil is being written in Alberta, an infant industry that bids fair to develop into a husky maturity within the next few years is making its debut near Victoria, and oil, asphalt base petroleum, is the underlying factor in the new plant's existence.

The prime purpose of the Sidney Rubber Roofing Company, Limited, is, as its name implies, the manufacture of waterproof roofing material of the highest grade. The demand for this style of roofing is becoming more and more insistent annually as its many excellent advantages are better understood, and, considering the amount of building that is being done, and will be done in Western Canada, the prospects for success so far as the Sidney Company is concerned, may be appreciated when it is made known that it will enjoy an almost clear field in Western Canada. What competition exists is severely handicapped for one reason or another as will be explained in the course of this article.

The Sidney concern is solidly backed, as may be seen by reference to the official prospectus. An excellent plant has already been built on the company's property at Sidney, and a contract has been let for the immediate construction of the largest oil storage tank north of San Francisco. Active production in appreciable quantities was begun at the plant last week, but was confined to the distilling and shipping of asphaltum for road-building and pipe-dipping purposes. The roofing material unit of the plant will shortly begin operations, a large shipment of felt paper from which the roofing will be made being expected almost daily.

The place that the Sidney company will occupy in supplying the demands of Western Canada for rubber roofing and building paper can best be appreciated in the statement that up to the present time this demand has been supplied by manufacturers in California, in the Eastern United States and in Eastern Canada. The first mentioned has to overcome heavy freight charges and a 25 per cent. ad valorem duty; the second is handicapped by heavy freights, the same duty as the first, and in addition, the high cost of raw materials; the third must pay heavy freight charges on its raw material, which is obtained in California, and again on its finished product.

Considered in connection with the above is the fact that crude oil is admitted into Canada free of duty. Thus, the Sidney Company pays no duty on its raw product, and, by taking advantage of water transportation, and with sufficient storage to be able to accommodate the entire cargo of the largest tank steamer at one discharge, it cuts the cost of its crude oil to the very minimum. Furthermore, by virtue of a contract with the General Petroleum Company, of California, one of the largest oil producing companies of that state, the Sidney concern is assured of a constant supply of oil at a steady figure over a period of years. Another important feature in this respect is the provision in the contract which appoints the Sidney Company's big tank, soon to be erected, as the bunker supply for the big vessels of the Weir Line, when they visit these waters. The Weir liners burn oil for fuel. It is intimated, also, that vessels of other lines, and tramps, that use oil fuel will take advantage of the company's storage. The photographs reproduced herewith give some idea of the plant. It stands on a site that was selected with great care, and one that will work out to tremendous advantage. The property lies between the Victoria and Sidney Railway line and the waters of the Gulf of Georgia. A spur track paralleling the company's warehouses affords complete facilities for rail transportation and the company's private wharf, which is soon to be considerably extended, offers direct access to water transportation. The large tankers, as they come in to discharge, will pump their cargoes through permanent pipes to the storage tank on the property.

The plant already built on this site may be said to consist of two units—although in reality the entire equipment is devoted primarily to the one end—the making of roofing material. The plant is thoroughly modern, and in its laying out the lessons of experience have been well applied. Present storage capacity is equal to between 7,000 and 8,000 barrels, and the distilling capacity is about 230 barrels daily. Steel, cement and brick enter largely into the plant's construction, and what has been completed has been planned with an eye to future expansion and general growth.

The present wharf is to be extended 30 ft. There will be 30 ft. of water at low tide.

From Mr. Fred L. King, an expert of many years' experience, who is the practical man in charge of the plant, the following details with reference to the plant's operations have been obtained:

Among the present features of the plant are two stills, five separating tanks for separating the different distilled products of petroleum, such as distillates for gas engines, neutral oils for paint and varnish, soap, car oils for railroads, skid oils, etc.; a condenser built of steel, two agitators for treating the crude distillates so as to provide a finished marketable product, and two sun bleachers into which the distillates run from the agitators. In these sun bleachers the oil is debloomed, and so is made ready for market. These oils are used for printers' ink, soap, car lubrication, tree spray, etc. The power plant consists of a boiler of 150 h.p., with a complete oil-burning equipment. In connection with the power plant is a machine shop fitted with special machines for doing all the work that is required in the plant's operation. Here, also, are the generators which produce the electric current for the company's light and power.

The big machine which turns out the roofing material is one of the most interesting features of the plant. It is housed in a special building, and is the last word in equipment of this nature.

The Sidney company is assured of an excellent market in Canada, between Victoria and Winnipeg for all its products. Besides this, the rapid development of modern demand in China gives every promise of a wonderful future market there, of which the company will be in an excellent position to take every advantage. It is with the Western Canadian market that the company is concerned with at present, however, and carefully revised estimates of the demand there show that from 1,000 to 1,200 tons per month are required to meet up with the present requirements. When it is remembered, as described heretofore, that the only competitors the company will have are working at a disadvantage in freight rates, duty and overhead cost, the market for the by-products is practically and equally well defined. Asphalt for street paving and asphalt road oil will each be produced at the rate of from 8,000 to 10,000 tons per year, and the demand for these is already established at good prices. When the company deems it advisable, plants for the manufacture of felt paper, barrels, boxes, etc., will be added, making the plant independent, or practically so.

This company is also fortunate in having secured the services of Mr. James W. Milne, who for the past nine years has been the superintendent of the Brantford Roofing Company, of Brantford, Ontario, manufacturers of the highest grade roofing products. The addition of Mr. Milne to the company's staff insures the production of an article equal in quality to any now produced in Canada.

The company's policy will be to make only the best quality of the different grades of roofing materials, and to maintain that quality at all times.

The plant expects to employ thirty more hands, several of them expert and will have its own fire-protection system; it generates its own electricity and assembles its own barrels and packages. As soon as the manufacture of the main product is well under way the directors plan to carry on under expert guidance, a comprehensive advertising-merchandising campaign such as will insure the quick distribution of its products, and the establishment of its brands and trademarks.

To Make Rubber Roofing at Sidney

Largest Tank North of San Francisco

SOME PARTICULARS OF TANK

Size and Capacity

WITH an excellent prospect of developing into an important industry, the plant of the Sidney Rubber Roofing Company, Ltd., at Sidney, near here, began active shipping of some of its products last week.

This plant was built for the purpose of making rubber roofing material, which is becoming more and more in demand throughout Western Canada every month.

The tank shown in drawing is the largest north of San Francisco and will take the largest tanker afloat. This tank is set in a solid concrete foundation, and weighs 162 tons, made of fabricated steel, is 114ft. 6in. in diameter, 35ft. 8in. in height, and has a capacity of 65,000 barrels, or 2,730,000 American gals. From the tank are two eight-inch pipe lines connected with it, these lines running to wharf, where they can take on 6,000 barrels an hour.

DUTIES OF OFFICE OF HIGH COMMISSIONER

In the Thirty-Four Years of Its Existence It Has Been a Centre for Canadians

The existing vacancy in the office of high commissioner for Canada in London has drawn attention to that post, and the mention of the name of Sir Richard McBride as a possible appointment has given British Columbians an especial interest in it. This interest is revived by the sending to the capital of the empire of Hon. George H. Perley, minister without portfolio in the Borden administration, and the likelihood that his temporary occupancy of the post may end in his resignation and his appointment permanently as high commissioner.

It was during the administration of Alexander Mackenzie that the value of a resident representative of the Dominion in London first became a live topic, and it is well known that if the government had not gone out of office it was the intention of Mr. Mackenzie to take that matter up with the imperial authorities. The year after, 1879, his successor, Sir John A. Macdonald, was over in London with Sir Leonard Tilley and Sir Charles Tupper, and they submitted a confidential memorandum to Lord Beaconsfield's government, a copy of which was sent by the colonial secretary to the Marquis of Lorne, then governor-general. Later on in the same year a report of a committee of the privy council was approved by the governor-general, and was sent on to the imperial government. In this occur the following paragraph:

"The committee recognize the fact that Canada cannot, as an integral portion of the empire, maintain relations of a strictly diplomatic character. But they respectfully submit that while this is true as respects foreign nations, it does not accurately represent the actual state of facts in regard to the United Kingdom. Her Majesty's government is unquestionably the supreme governing power of the empire, but, under the British North America act, self governing powers have been conferred upon Canada in many most important respects, and Her Majesty's government may on these points be more correctly defined as representing the United Kingdom than the Empire at large.

"In considering many questions of the highest importance, such as the commercial and fiscal policy of the Dominion as affecting the United Kingdom, the promotion of imperial interests in the administration and settlement of the interior of the continents, and on many other subjects, indeed on all matters of internal concern, the imperial government and parliament have so far transferred to Canada an independent control that their discussion and settlement have become subjects for mutual assent and concert, and thereby have, it is thought, a quasi-diplomatic character as between Her Majesty's government representing the United Kingdom per se and the Dominion, without in any manner derogating from their general authority as rulers of the entire empire.

"As the representative of governor-general and executive government of Canada, and especially when dealing with negotiations with any foreign powers, the duties of the proposed officer will, the committee consider, be of a nature more analogous to diplomatic than to home service, but they confidently leave this subject in the hands of Her Majesty's government, resting on the assurances conveyed in the dispatch under consideration that Her Majesty's government will accord to their representative a status in every way worthy of his important functions.

"With reference to the designation of the proposed officer the committee desire to accept the suggestion of Her Majesty's government. As, however, commissioners are very frequently appointed for special services of minor importance, it is considered desirable to make the appointment to London distinctive by styling the officer 'high commissioner of Canada in London,' the committee on this point being convinced that in reference especially to foreign governments the designation and status are of real importance."

By an act passed at the session of 1880 the office was created, but in its early years it hardly filled the position which it was hoped it would have taken at once. Of these early years William L. Griffith, the present secretary, has this to say in his valuable book on "The Dominion of Canada":

"When it was first established the high commissioner's office was not well known, and received but little attention from the powers that were. It has, however, as the years rolled on, steadily grown in importance, and it can safely be said that largely through its efforts Canada has become in Great Britain the best-known portion of the British empire. Canada has, as promised, given of her best to conduct the affairs of the Dominion in this country, and the three commissioners who have already served her here are names to conjure with. The almost triumphal reception recently extended to the newly-appointed high commissioner for Australia, at which Canadians rejoiced equally with their Australian cousins, was in vivid contrast to the indifference shown by the public, at least, to the first high commissioner from Canada, and at the same time enables us to gauge the great change in national feeling towards the great British communities over-seas."

The first high commissioner was Sir Alexander Tilloch Galt, who had sat for Sherbrooke, Quebec, in the old parliament and in the first parliament after confederation, and was minister of finance in the first cabinet. He had been for a dozen years back in private life when he accepted the office, and although then an old man, it was for somewhat the same reasons that Lord Strathcona afterwards did the idea that he could be of service to his country. He was appointed on May 11, 1880, and held the office until May 31, 1883.

There was no commissioner for a year following his resignation. Then, on May 24, 1884, Sir Charles Tupper gave up the portfolio of railways and canals and was appointed to the office. He came back to Canada to take part in the election of 1887, and when he got to Ottawa he resigned the commission-ership on January 26, and was sworn in as minister of finance. For sixteen months the office remained without an incumbent, being administered by the secretary, J. G. Colmer, but on May 23, 1888, Sir Charles resumed the duties. He made another hurried trip to the national capital early in 1896, when the intrigue against Sir Mackenzie Bowell's premiership resulted in his resignation, and he resigned the office for the second time to re-enter politics on January 14, accepting a portfolio in the reconstituted Bowell ministry as secretary of state, and a few months later becoming premier, only to go down to defeat on June 23, 1896.

Sir Donald A. Smith, G. C. M. G., as he was then, was appointed high commissioner on April 24, 1896, and filled that position up to the time of his death on January 21 last.

William L. Griffith, the secretary to the high commissioner, is a man in the prime of life, who is doing a vast amount of good work for Canada. Born in Wales 50 years ago, he settled in southern Manitoba in 1882, and became one of the first exporters of wheat from that province. He was appointed as Canadian commercial agent to Wales in 1897, and later went to Patagonia to bring to Canada a party of Welsh settlers who had got deceived to that inhospitable region by agents of the Argentine government. On March 1, 1902, he was appointed secretary to the high commissioner, for which position his unflinching courtesy and excellent tact have fitted him well.

The duties of the commissioner embrace what might be called diplomatic relations between Canada and the imperial government and the representatives of the other dominions in London, matters affecting trade and commerce, banking, supervision of immigration work in the United Kingdom, and a great deal of necessary social work. The office provides the facilities of a club for Canadians in London, with all the equipment of a reference library, reading and writing rooms, and the staff are always ready to give all information required about every possible subject under the sun.

To give an idea of the range of subjects on which information is desired, here are some of the inquiries with which the office is constantly bombarded taken at random. Questions as to value of land; the constitution, the temperature at various points, request for specimens of maple leaves, wholesale prices of commodities, town sites in western Canada, buffaloes, postal regulations, recovery of debt, naturalization law, company law, marriage laws, regulation governing seed potatoes, reader's tickets for the British museum, the divorce law, asylums, German clubs, grading of wheat, sport, docking facilities, the mining laws of various provinces, vaccination regulations, conditions under which eight-testing business can be established, the correct design of the Canadian flag, dates of close season for moose, caribou, etc., minimum depth of locks, meaning of "sourdough," importation of bees, cost of living, date of introduction of sheep into Canada and by whom brought, quarantine regulations, status of deserters of Oriental origin forming crew of coasting vessels, the tariff status of the household effects of a person returning after an extended absence, charges on vessels entering Canada after repair at American port of damages, constitution, management and staff of a certain university, the marriage of a minor in British Columbia, and the necessity for permission of a parent residing in India. Freight rates on corn from Fort William to Liverpool, claim of Canadian heirs-at-law to Scotch estates, comparisons of house rents in Canada and Great Britain, and cost of living at various points, farm scenes, views of old Quebec, and portraits of prominent public men, may required showing new roads near St. John, N. B., inquiry, as to means of bringing pressure on lawyers to effect settlement, the customs duty on moving vans, etc., etc.

These are a few from a record which includes questions grave and gay, important and frivolous. The success achieved in answering them speaks well of the knowledge, industry and organization of the high commissioner's office.

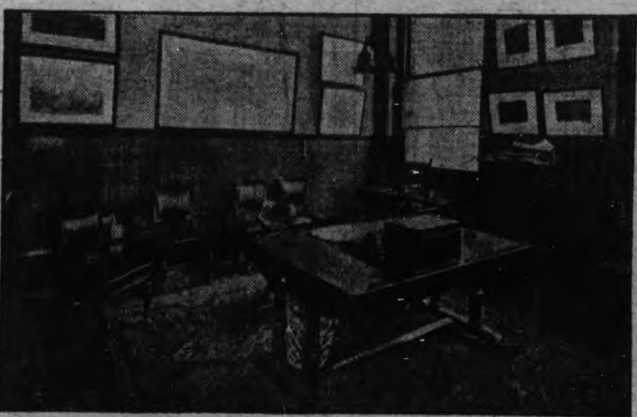

The cost of the Balkan wars to Bulgaria makes a grand total of close upon $20,000,000; while the value of the territory which Bulgaria had to cede to Rumania is estimated at another £60,000,000. The number of lives lost was somewhere between 55,000 and 58,000—between 6 per cent. and 7 per cent. of the adult male population of the country.

The total mineral production of Canada during 1913 amounted to the value of over $120,000,000.

PRETTY HOME WEDDING.

Miss Jennie F. Macdonald and Thomas Knight Married; Will Reside in Victoria.

An exceptionally pretty home wedding was celebrated last evening at the residence of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Knight, of "Kittlands," when their son Thomas and Miss Jennie Fraser Macdonald, of Stellarton, Nova Scotia, were united in marriage. The ceremony took place at 7 o'clock. Rev. William Stevenson, of Emmanuel Baptist church, performing the rite.

The bride looking charmingly girlish in a simple dress of cream-colored Duchess silk, with misty veil of white tulle fastened in place with a spray of orange blossoms, her shower bouquet being of white roses and asparagus fern. She was attended by one bridesmaid, Miss Florence Knight, who was pretty in a frock of pale blue silk and carrying a shower bouquet of white roses, while little Nellie Knight, another sister of the bridegroom, acted as flower girl and carried a basket of white carnations. Arthur Knight acted as groomsmen.

The room where the ceremony took place was fragrant with the masses of white and pink roses which were arranged effectively about in vases, while festoons of ivy also added to the festive appearance. A large number of guests were present, all of whom later during the reception which followed the ceremony, showered their good wishes on the happy pair.

A buffet supper was served before Mr. and Mrs. Knight left by motor for the interior of the Island, where they will spend their honeymoon, returning to this city to make their home.

I cannot remember the hour or season or air-temperature, or even the place, in which I read any book of Wells or Bennett or Conrad or Henry James or James Stephens. Yet each of these has written something better in its way than anything of Scott or Dickens.—Mr. William Power.

MANY FEATURES AT FESTIVAL OF ART

Victorians Will Be Seen in Representations of Famous Paintings To-morrow

To-morrow evening the festival of art will take place at the Royal Victoria theatre, and it is expected that the opportunity to enjoy an instructive as well as an enjoyable evening's entertainment will be taken advantage of by many. The festival is being held in aid of the handicrafts school of the Island Arts and Crafts club, and many of the leading artists of the city have assisted in preparing backgrounds and arranging the groupings of living figures to represent the figures in the old masterpieces to be represented. In addition to this leading feature of the programme there will be music and dances suggestive of the periods of art to be illustrated, and for this the best talent of the city has been secured, while for the pictures themselves the models selected are nearly as good as the originals.

President of Pacific Great Eastern Railway Visits City; Has Inspected Line.

The president of the Pacific Great Eastern railway, J. W. Stewart, was in the city yesterday afternoon for a conference with Sir Richard McBride and D'Arcy Tate, vice-president of the line. The president has just completed a trip right over the railroad and the work now under way. Mr. Stewart was accompanied by P. Welch, the well-known contractor and his son, J. Welch.

In the course of an interview, President Stewart remarked that with the exception of some thirty odd miles, the entire line of the Pacific Great Eastern is now under contract. Grading is in progress along the whole right-of-way from Squamish to Fort George and is expected to be finished this year.

The president added that a uniform force of no fewer than 6,000 men will be kept on the work for the remainder of this year. The steady work on the railway would help to a great degree the many who would be otherwise unemployed at this slack season of the year.

Before the close of the year, stated the president, there will be put in operation an accommodation train service between Squamish and Lillooet to serve the very fine tracts of agricultural land which will by its means be made accessible to the settler.

That within a few weeks development work will be started on the coast terminals of the Pacific Great Eastern at Squamish, was the president's statement. Large expenditures will be involved in this undertaking particularly for the improvement of the harbor and the laying out of the townsite. It is stated by competent authorities that the harbor of Squamish is one of the best on the coast and every advantage will be taken by the P. G. E. of this great natural asset.

Of late, says Mr. Stewart, weather conditions have been ideal for the rapid pushing on of railway work. Save in the higher levels the snow has cleared away from the mountains and the company is confident that the whole of the grading to Fort George will be completed before the end of the present year.

OWE TO MEXICO.

Though for a time Americans may war with Mexico they owe the troubled republic an eternal debt for the invention of the cocktail, which the United States has perfected as a fine art. The name is an Aztec word, from a beautiful maiden, Xochitl, who won the heart of the king of Mexico by her skill in preparing a drink which combined sweet and bitter, aromatic and soothing qualities. Hence the name "Xochitl" became New Englished into "cocktail," though Washington Irving wrote of the Dutch founders of New York that they claimed to be "the first inventors of the recondite beverages cocktail, stone fence, and sherry cobbler." Manhattan and Berlin we know, but what was—or is—a "stone fence?"

A sense of duty pursues us ever. It is omnipresent like the Deity.—Webster.

Grape-Nuts

Made from whole wheat and barley, Grape-Nuts retains all the nutrition of these grains, including the mineral salts—phosphate of potash, etc.—so necessary for growth and repair of the delicate brain and nerve tissues, but which are so often lacking in ordinary food.

DEPUTY MINISTER ON THE OIL STRIKE

R. W. Brock Advises Care and Judgment on the Part of Investors

R. W. Brock, deputy minister of mines, who was recently on the coast, made a visit to the scene of the oil strike near Calgary on his way east. The result of his investigation was summed up in a frank interview given to a representative of the Winnipeg Free Press, which, coming from one of Mr. Brock's knowledge of the district, is deserving of close attention. Mr. Brock said:

"The strike of oil in the Dingman well, near Black Diamond in the Calgary district, Alberta, may be an event of some importance in the history of the development of the province, as it strengthens, if it does not yet justify, the conviction that has always been held by the Geological Survey that the Northwest affords one of the most promising fields for oil prospecting which still remain undeveloped.

It does not, of course, establish the existence of an important commercial field; while much more profitable as a producer than a well of similar capacity of ordinary crude oil would be, it is not as satisfactory an indication, but it does add materially to the already widespread evidence of oil in the northwest, and justifies business-like, technically directed, intelligent prospecting.

"At a depth of 2,700 feet oil was struck that quickly rose to a height of from 2,000 to 2,200 feet in the well. With it is some gas which occasionally causes a spurt of gas and oil from the mouth of the well. The oil is a 'white-oil,' like the small amount of oil encountered higher up in this well last fall. It is about 64.5 Baume, almost pure gasoline, so that in its crude state it is a satisfactory substitute in motors for the refined gasoline of commerce.

Not Equipped With a Pump. "At the time of my visit the well had not been equipped with a pump, or storage facilities, so that it was not known what the daily capacity would be, nor how it will stand up against pumping, but the small amount bailed out has had no effect upon the level of oil in the well.

"The well is situated at the base of the foothills on the apex of a saddle-like fold in the rocks that makes a sort of lip to the great basin or rocks which underlies the plains. This fold is, roughly, a mile or so wide, dipping very steeply on both its eastern and western limbs. Its direction is north-west and southeasterly, or about parallel to the front of the mountains. It is cut off by a fault or break in the rocks on its western limb. This break is followed by several small folds, before the rocks become badly folded and broken by mountain building forces towards the mountain front. These folds bring to the surface rocks lower in the geological scale than those that are found on the basins, thus, while Tertiary rocks are found on the plains and on the eastern and western limbs of the Dingman fold, the surface rock on this fold is the underlying, Cretaceous, an important feature, as the possible oil-bearing rocks are low down in the Cretaceous. The structure or altitude of the rocks is favorable, for oil will rise to the highest point permitted by the conditions underground. The highest possible point, if the oil is sufficiently mobile, would be the apex of a fold. The strike of the summer gas was struck in the most wholly gasoline. This was considered a favorable indication, it might represent the lighter, more volatile portion of oil that had been filtered from a main body. When 'white oil,' almost pure gasoline, was encountered in small quantity last fall this hypothesis was strengthened. The present strike of similar oil in some volume leads naturally to the supposition that the drill has made an approach to an oil reservoir. There may perhaps be a notable quantity of this high grade oil itself, but this has still to be demonstrated, and the almost universal history of other fields

A CRIPPLE FROM RHEUMATISM

Tortured Four Years Until He Took "Fruit-a-tives"

"Ridgeway, Ont., May 21, 1913. "Your 'Fruit-a-tives' cured me of rheumatism. It was the only medicine that made any impression on me. I was a terrible sufferer from rheumatism. I was laid up for four winters with sciatica and muscular rheumatism, and was a cripple completely, not being able to do anything. I doctored with four different physicians, but they did not help me. Other advertised remedies were equally unsatisfactory, and I have taken several.

"Some neighbor of mine told me that 'Fruit-a-tives' helped him, and I took them faithfully every day and the result was marvellous. For over two years now, I have been free from any rheumatic pains whatever, and give 'Fruit-a-tives' the full credit for making a remarkable cure.

"W. T. RACHER." "If you are subject to rheumatic attacks, sciatica, lumbago or neuralgia, take 'Fruit-a-tives' right now and start the permanent cure which 'Fruit-a-tives' will complete if taken faithfully. 50c a box, $ for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

has been that these white oils are rather limited in quantity. The strike therefore is encouraging, but has not demonstrated an important commercial field.

"The area for prospecting is limited in an east and west sense, for immediately east of this anticline, not only is the structure unfavorable, but the possible oil-bearing rocks are too deeply buried for much hope of the oil horizon being reached by the drill. The belt of highly disturbed and broken ground in the foothills puts a western limit to any possible oil zone. It is therefore a relatively narrow belt with a trend roughly parallel with the mountains that affords any reasonable prospect for oil.

"It is also to be remembered that drilling in these formations is unusually expensive, especially if the drillers have not had experience with these particular rocks; that at best oil prospecting is speculative, and that to reduce the speculative element to within commercial bounds it should be undertaken only under intelligent technical direction. There are places which afford a reasonable chance of success, there are others which may be immediately alongside, that it is an absolute waste of capital and energy to attempt to prospect. While science may not be able to guarantee the presence of oil in commercial quantity, it can at least often guarantee its absence. There are too many points worth prospecting in Alberta and capital is too valuable for this country, to have money available for prospecting squandered on hopeless undertakings.

"No one should invest money in oil prospecting that he cannot afford to lose, and before investing he should assure himself that the company has capital enough to put down several wells with due allowance for possible difficulties met with in drilling, and the expense of repairs has been examined and found to be reasonable. It is proposed to drill, to locate the hole, and that has it is the first step in prospecting.

"A. O. F. COUNCILOR The evil effects of No. 533, known at West Kootenay, B.C. street, and district has not even yet been ordered, and scores of investors have been misled through ill-considered investment and development. Oil prospecting is still more dangerous and requires quite as much, if not more, technical knowledge and skill.

"The development of a commercial field would be invaluable to the country, but this end is to be attained by sane, common sense, intelligent work. Reckless gambling on the oil prospects of the northwest may give legitimate prospecting a setback that it may take a generation to overcome."

THE FLAG.

To the Editor: It is customary for all public institutions to fly the flag of the country on occasions of national celebration, of which the king's birthday is certainly one. I notice that whilst the city hall flies the flag the fire halls are noticeable by their want of the proper courtesy. I commend this to the notice of the mayor of the city of Victoria. I notice, too, that whilst the Grand Trunk Pacific fly the flag the Canadian Pacific is noticeable by its want of the proper courtesy to the British realm.

We hear a great deal about the employment of aliens. Are these institutions, in their patriotic courtesies, controlled by men of alien proclivities? If so let some one teach them manners. BRITISH.

SUPREME COURT SAT ON KING'S BIRTHDAY

Expert Witness in Case of Gunion v. Bank of Commerce Had to Leave Town

Stating that expert evidence would not control the judicial mind, but might direct it into certain channels, Chief Justice Hunter this morning ordered a transcript of the evidence in the case of Charley Gunion against the Canadian Bank of Commerce to be prepared before counsel entered into the argument. Owing to the necessity of one of the expert witnesses for the bank getting away, the court sat yesterday to hear his evidence in spite of the fact that it was a holiday. Hence only argument was left over until today, and this was adjourned this morning until next Thursday.

In this case Charley Gunion claims that his wife, now dead, drew out $3,355 from his account in the bank by presenting a forged receipt purporting to be signed by him. J. A. Alkman presented his case, and A. P. Luxton, K. C., counsel for the bank, brought expert evidence to show that the signature on the receipt was that of Charley Gunion. The expert admitted that undoubtedly part of the signature was written by Mary Gunion and expressed the opinion that the rest was written by Charley while his hand was guided by his wife.

his wife's death he believed the money to be in the bank. Gunion was recalled by Chief Justice Hunter this morning and admitted that he knew his wife must have taken out $1,000, as it was given to his daughter, Nettie Elder, with his consent. He said he did not want the bank to pay this to him again, but Mr. Alkman pointed out that the action had to be brought on the cheque.

Chief Justice Hunter stated when Mr. Luxton opened the argument this morning that he was not convinced that any portion of the signature was written by Charley Gunion, but he was convinced that certain letters were written by his wife. When referred to the expert's evidence he stated that he preferred to be guided by his own eyes, and when a difference arose between the counsel as to what the expert really did say a transcript of the evidence was ordered as the only solution.

TO-DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

Snow fell in many parts of both Upper and Lower Canada on June 2 in 1816, and ice and frost were frequent throughout the month and in July. That June ninety-eight years ago was probably the coldest and most unseasonable in the history of Canada. During the month snow fell to the depth of from six to ten inches in the Canadas, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland, and the snowfall extended as far south as upper New York, Vermont and Maine. Almost all vegetable growth succumbed and fruit was nearly all destroyed. There was little rain in that memorable month, and after the snows a dry season followed, with the wind blowing cold and harsh from the north. On the seventeenth of June there was a heavy snow, then another dry period which extended through most of July. On the fifth of July thick ice formed in many parts of Canada. August was even worse than the preceding months. Ice half an inch thick formed in the middle of August. There was a brief season of mild and seasonable weather in September, but it came too late to be of any benefit to the crops, most of which had long since been destroyed by the bitter cold. Canada was not then the well-settled and prosperous country that it is to-day. Upper Canada was still largely a forest, with settlements and clearings here and there along the lakes and streams. Most of the settlers were poor, and the crop failure entailed great suffering and privation the following winter. There would probably have been a considerable exodus from the country except for the fact that England and Europe had suffered a similar fate, and the English relatives of the Canadian settlers could hold out little hope to those who returned, since the world-wide failure of crops had sent the prices of nearly all foodstuffs soaring skyward. The winter of 1816-17 was exceptionally mild, however, so that there was less suffering than there would have been had the "year without a summer" been followed by a severe winter.

FIRST THINGS

The first speaker of the house of representatives of the United States congress was Frederick A. Muhlenberg, of Pennsylvania, who was born in Trappe, Pa., in 1750, and died in Lancaster, Pa., in 1826. He was the son of the Rev. Heinrich Melchior Muhlenberg, the founder of the German Lutheran church in America, and the brother of John Peter Gabriel Muhlenberg, clergyman, general in Washington's army, congressman and United States senator. Muhlenberg served as speaker throughout the first congress of the United States, and was succeeded by Jonathan Trumbull, of Connecticut; but was returned to the speaker's chair in the third congress. Among his famous successors were Henry Clay, who was speaker of six congresses; James K. Polk, Robert C. Winthrop, Schuyler Colfax, James G. Blaine, John G. Carlisle, Thomas B. Reed, David B. Henderson, Joseph G. Cannon and Champ Clark. Only one speaker of the house, James K. Polk, has ever reached the White House, defeating Henry Clay, an ex-speaker.

It is a simple yet a wonderful comfort to have a second self which is a child; to possess a childhood of feeling in the midst of manhood.—Stopford A. Brooke.

SCRAP BOOK

Centenary of the Constitutional Charter Adopted by Louis XVIII.

Just a century ago to-day Louis XVIII., the Bourbon monarch who had been restored to the throne of France after the downfall of Napoleon, signed with reluctant pen the new constitution of the country which he claimed to rule by "divine right." The Charter, or "Charte Constitutionnelle," had been presented to the king over a week before, but at first he refused to sign it. It was a poor, futile constitution as compared with the charter of "liberty, fraternity, equality," framed by the great men of the revolution, but it was still a constitution, and the Bourbon monarch was averse to any measure that would limit or define his "divine right" to absolute rulership. It was signed by him only on compulsion of the Czar of Russia, who, with all the arrogance of a present-day life insurance agent, placed the quill in the trembling hand of Louis, and commanded, with an air of authority that brooked no refusal, "Sign here." And the craven Louis, dominated utterly by the masterful Czar of the Russias, attached his royal signature to the document.

When Napoleon left France for Elba he malevolently declared: "The Bourbons may put France at peace with Europe, but how will they put her at peace with themselves?" The weak and fatuous Louis, great in nothing but a silly vanity, accepted the constitution because he was forced to do so, but in every way possible he immediately proceeded to ignore it. He acted as if the tremendous events of the revolution and the empire had never happened. Within a short time he had succeeded in alienating even the most devout royalists, save those fawning few who were permitted to pick crumbs from under the royal table.

When Napoleon returned from Elba the cowardly Louis, thinking first and always of his precious life, fled in terror, and waited until the English and Prussians had defeated Napoleon before returning to France. It was at the time when Louis XVIII. was so reluctantly granting a constitution to "his people" that the saying arose: "The Bourbons have forgotten nothing and they have learned nothing." The lessons of the revolution were utterly lost, not alone upon Louis of France, but upon the Bourbon kings of Spain and Naples, who were weaker and more fatuous, if possible, than the French monarch.

Sixty-nine years ago to-day Mexico declared war against the United States, and thus began the conflict that was to result in the loss of a large and the most valuable part of the territory of the Mexican republic. Nearly a year passed, however, before hostilities actually commenced, and it was not until May 12, 1846, that the United States answered Mexico's defiance with a declaration of war. James Knox Polk had been inaugurated just three months before, and two days later the Mexican minister demanded his passports. A revolution in Mexico, however, kept the government well occupied, and it was not until President Paredes had overthrown President Herrera that Mexico was in a position to put its threat of war into effect. In the meantime President Polk had sought to avert war, and to arrange for a peaceful purchase of the disputed Texas territory and also of California. John Sillidell, afterward involved in a famous incident of the war between North and South, was the John Sillidell of the period, but all his efforts were vain, and he was never officially recognized by the Mexican government. While Sillidell was carrying on his negotiations in 1845, President Polk was preparing for war by sending troops to the Texas border and southwards to the Gulf and Pacific coasts, and when Mexico commenced hostilities the United States was ready for the issue.

HUMAN PROCESSION

William Reuben George, internationally famous as the founder of the "Junior Republic" at Freeville, N. Y., and the inspiration of a number of other "kid nations" for bad youngsters in America and England, was born at West Dryden, N. Y., forty-eight years ago to-day. Within the last few months, charges of a most sensational nature have been made against "Daddy" George, but the verdict of an investigating committee headed by Joseph H. Choate found him guiltless of the graver charges. The criticisms of George's methods contained in the report of the commission of inquiry into the Freeville institution was received with indignation by the board of trustees of the George Junior Republic Association of New York and the founder of the movement was asked to continue as a director of the National Association of Junior Republics, which now conducts "kid republics" in eight states. The board, in answer to George's criticism, "put on record their unqualified belief in the moral integrity of William R. George, together with their hearty appreciation of the original contribution that he has made and the devoted service he has given to the training of youth." The board declared that it was "fully cognizant of the animus underlying the accusations brought," and suggested a libel action. The national directors urged that "Daddy" George be placed in charge of the movement for the establishment of republics in Iowa, Ohio and Oregon.

It was a little "human interest" story in a newspaper which led George to establish the "kid republic" which has been so widely copied. It was about a quarter of a century ago, when George was a young but highly successful business man in New York, that he read the article which stirred his imagination so effectively. It told of a street urchin who dared arrest by walking on the grass in a park to pick what he thought was a flower, and of the lad's keen disappointment when he found it was only a scrap of orange peel.

This passionate love for flowers entertained by nearly all the poor children of New York gave Mr. George the idea of taking a number of street gamins to the country, where they could have all the wild flowers they wanted for the picking. In 1890 he took forty boys and ten girls—youngsters about as tough as they make 'em—to a summer camp at Freeville, near Ithaca. He continued the experiment for several years, and became the host to several hundred boys and girls. However, he was dissatisfied with the result, since his efforts smacked of charity and pauperized the recipients. He determined to make his guests earn their living, and in 1895 the first Junior Republic was founded with this end in view.

The "republic" was so called because the citizens were permitted to govern themselves and elect their own officials, under a constitution and laws similar to those of the United States. "Nothing without labor," was the motto of the republic, and the farm became an all-the-year-round community of workers, who paid their own way and were proud of it. Mr. George was superintendent of the republic until 1910, when he resigned to devote his entire time to establishing similar institutions in other parts of the United States.

There is a power in the direct glance of a sincere and loving human soul which will do more to dissipate prejudice and kindle charity than the most elaborate arguments.—George Eliot.

Dumb stones may speak, become sentiments, poets, prophets, orators, altars where noble youths in all time may come to make their secret vows.—Emerson.

FLOOR PRESSURE IN LEHIGH INEFFECTIVE

Liquidation for Domestic and Foreign Account Ceased in Prices

(By F. W. Stevenson &amp; Co.)

New York, June 4.—The demand for stocks which took place yesterday afternoon continued on the opening this morning, notwithstanding weakness in Lehigh valley, which was under floor pressure.

Sentiment in London was brighter as also to an extent in continental quarters, for some demand emanated from foreign centers.

The St. Paul bond offering was the immediate point of interest, and in a way acted as a restraining influence.

Domestic liquidation ceased almost entirely, which together with the better attitude of Europeans to this side's securities, produced more encouragement to constructive endeavor.

Oil Stocks of Calgary Hold Primary Interest on Victoria Exchange

(By F. W. Stevenson &amp; Co.)

Hole-woolard and Amalgamated Development comprised two new additions to the oil list this morning on the local stock exchange. Calgary stocks were accorded first support, but a more normal condition of prices is looked for when the stock exchange there gets in working order.

The balance of the list showed normal changes with Canadian Marconi selling at the low level of $1.25 per share. Offers of Coronation were cheaper.

WINNIPEG WHEAT HEAVY ON RAINS AND CABLES

Winnipeg, June 4.—Rains have occurred at many points over the three provinces and heavy rains at Medicine Hat, Moose Jaw and other points where moisture was needed, and with Liverpool cables disappointing to the bulls the market was heavy from the outset. Prices opened 1/2 to 1 cent lower. There was a fair amount of trading, with July holding comparatively firm as compared with October. At noon July was 1 cent lower, while October was 1 cent lower than closing prices Tuesday. The close was 1/2 to 1 cent lower.

The cash demand was fairly good for all grades for filling space, but little or no new business in export was transacted. Cash wheat closed 1/2 to 1 cent lower. Cash oats unchanged. Cash barley 1 cent higher for all grades, and cash flax 1 cent lower for all grades. Two hundred and thirty-six cars were inspected as against 483 last year, and in night were 250.

ONE CENT DECLINE FOR WHEAT FUTURES IN PIT

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.)
 Chicago, June 4.—Wheat prices broke sharply, and action following a lower opening was decidedly choppy. It was conceded that profit-taking on this last bulge has been considerable, also that those favoring the up side of prices were disposed to await a seasonable reaction before making commitment. Influences were bearish in tone. Thus Liverpool came lower, and there was an absence of genuinely adverse reports from growing wheat sections.

On the cent decline support held prices well up to the finish.

TELEPHONE MEETING IS SET FOR JUNE 19

Conference of Aldermen and Company Postponed; Mayor Hears From Ottawa

The proposed conference between representatives of the city council and the B. C. Telephone company with regard to the underground conduit and easement privileges, has been postponed till June 19. This announcement was made by the mayor to-day. The telephone company's officials desire to have with them Mr. Halse, who is at present away from Vancouver, and so they sought a postponement from the present week.

As the city council is attending officially the funeral of Robert Porter to-morrow afternoon, the hours set for the receipt of deputations prior to the usual meeting of the streets committee will be subject to change. Probably the aldermen will not be back at the city hall till 3.30.

The mayor is in receipt of a communication from W. D. Scott, superintendent of immigration, in reply to the resolution of the city council passed last Thursday, asking for the enforcement of the immigration regulations in connection with the Hindu passengers of the Komagata Maru. After reciting the orders-in-council for the exclusion of artisans and laborers, Mr. Scott says: "Our officers have received instructions to adhere very rigidly to all the regulations, and you may rest assured that every effort is being taken by the department to prevent illegal or improper entry."

Owing to the holding-up of instructions to paint the outside of the various fire halls following a protest from H. Harkness, Chief Davis and members of the fire wardens committee will visit the halls to-morrow, the chief being confident that the judgment of Mr.

CHINESE NEEDED IN THE PHILIPPINES

Laziness of Natives Militates Against Development Says Army Officer

Two things are needed to make the Philippines the great country they are destined to be, according to Captain C. F. Farnell, who for 15 years has been stationed there with the United States Army. One is railway transportation and the other is Chinese labor. Thousands and thousands of acres of good rice land lie virgin and idle, according to this gentleman, who arrived from the Orient yesterday on the Tamba Maru, which could be developed. If there were any means of getting the crops to the seaports and any labor with which to cultivate them, the Philippines are grossly lazy and do not do one good day's work in a week, according to Captain Farnell, who states that the importation of about 10,000 Chinese men would be the best thing for the Philippines that could happen.

The Philippines have not yet had sufficient education to be self-governing, in Captain Farnell's opinion, although he admits that indications point to the early granting of a state of independence. In the 16 years of American occupation rapid strides have been made, however. Even the wild Moros have been tamed and head-hunting no longer exists on the islands. Tribes that were formerly head-hunters now go to school regularly and are as peaceful in their habits as citizens of Victoria, the captain states.

The country has become so peaceful that the United States troops, which are 15,000 in number now, are all concentrated at McKinley. The only troops stationed in the outlying places are the native scouts commanded by American officers. Captain Farnell is himself in command of a company of these, and he says they are splendid fighters. Last February the men of his company fought against their own people manfully in quelling a rebellion which had its origin in religious fanaticism on the island of Balabak. The natives surround their foes and try to kill them at short range with spears and other primitive weapons. General Pershing having spent two years in cleaning the Mindanao country of fire-arms. Weapons are still smuggled in, the captain says, but not in any great numbers. General Pershing is now in the United States, and in the event of trouble in Mexico will be in command of the American troops, Captain Farnell states.

Captain Farnell is home on a month's furlough, dating from his arrival in the United States. His home is in Texas and he has to sail for the Philippines on July 4, so that his stay will be a short one. He is enthusiastic about the climate of the Philippines. The same clothes are worn the year round and overcoats are never necessary. Yet it is always cool in the evenings so that the people can sleep in comfort.

HIGHLANDERS MARCH OUT.

Crowds Enjoyed Drill of Smartly Uniformed 50th.

With 220 men in uniform, the 50th Highlanders held their first public parade last night, marching to the Central school grounds headed by the pipers' band. The sight of the smart white tunics and swaying kilts inspired the crowd to cheers at various points and hundreds watched the battalion drill under the direction of the commanding officer, Lieut.-Col. Currie, at the school grounds. The regiment has prided by its training and drilled with a smartness and precision unexpected in a new regiment.

The drill would have been much better attended had all the uniforms been given out.
